U. S. ATOMIC PEACE PLAN

SOVIET UNION HEDGES

Russia Asks Door Be Wide Open To All

...Including Red China, E. Germany

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) — The Soviet Union Tuesday conditionally approved establishment of an international agency to supervise President Eisenhower's atoms-for-peace plan.

It hedged with provisos that the agency must be subject on vital security matters to the veto-bound U.N. Security Council and must be wide open to all countries, including Red China and East Germany.

The Soviet reaction to the proposed agency statute was given in the U. N. Assembly's Political Committee by V. V. Kuznetsov, Soviet first deputy foreign minister. He renewed Prime Minister Bulganin's pledge at the Geneva Big Four conference to give fissionable material to an international fund once it has been established. He also called for another conference on peaceful use of the atom before 1957.

Canadian Pleased

Paul Martin, Canadian minister of national health and welfare, told the committee he noted with approval the decision of the Soviet government to support the creation of an international agency. He and other Western sources said the Soviet ideas would be studied closely. The West professed to be encouraged by what delegates called the apparent desire of the Russians to join an international agency.

A spokesman said Morehead Patterson, representative of Secretary of State Dulles in drawnig up the proposed statute, would not comment. He said comment would have to come from Dulles.

The United States has advocated linking the proposed agency to the U. N. on the same relationship of a specialized agency. This means it would report to the U. N. but would run its own affairs by its own constitution and budget.

The U. S. position also has been adamant against any veto on day-to-day decisions of the agency. However, the United States has recognized that any matter affecting the vital security of a state would be a grave issue and the U. N. Security Council would have to act.

The United States, Britain, France, China and the Soviet Union hold the power of veto in the Council.

-Slave Laborer-

U. S. GI Seen In Siberia

Russia Pressed For Release Of Sparks

WASHINGTON (INS) — The State Department said Tuesday it is pressing Russia to free an American GI reported by returning German war prisoners to be held in a Siberian slave labor camp.

State Department spokesman Henry Suydam said the soldier, Pvt. Sidney Ray Sparks, of Tennville, Ga., "is the subject of current representations to the Soviet Union."

Suydam said that two other Americans reported as prisoners in Russia by the returning Germans had previously lost their U. S. citizenship and Washington is doing nothing about them.

The two were identified as Jack Goralski, and George Green.

The State Department spokesman said the U. S. government has been unable to identify three other persons reportedly held by the Russians, but that a search for information on them is continuing.

Not Located

These three were named by the German POW's as Bob Goldman, Bud Goldsman and Vladimir Golowski Jr.

Suydam said that the U. S. was informed by the Soviet government on Aug. 19 that Sparks has not been located but that a further search would be made.

The GI, who reportedly fled to the Soviet zone in December, 1951, while awaiting a court martial on charges of being absent without leave and thievery, was said by the Germans to be held in the Potma Camp, where prisoners are frequently moved prior to being released.

Secret Talks

LONDON (AP) — Britain's envoy in Peiping has opened new secret talks with Communist China aimed at speeding the release of 19 captive Americans, diplomatic officials reported Tuesday night.

Con O'Neill, British charge d'affaires, has been assigned to act for any American who wishes to leave Red China, but so far he has not been allowed to see any of them in jail, the informants said.

Stolen Car Used In Robbery Found

Police said Tuesday evening a message had been received via Safety Patrol that a stolen car used in the 55th and South Street filling station armed robbery Monday night was found in Omaha.

Police had no further details except that the car was impounded at the Omaha Police garage.

The car was taken from Sidles at 5 p.m. Monday on a demonstration ride and was never returned.

The robber who took $90 from station operator Henry Frisbie, police said, is still at large.

—Show 'Not Successful'—

Imogene Coca Gives Up $1 Million TV Contract

...She Says 'I'll Be Making More'

NEW YORK (AP) — Wide-eyed Imogene Coca was disclosed Tuesday to have voluntarily given up a million-dollar television contract.

The comedienne, whose emoting as Sid Caesar's sidekick helped "Your Show of Shows" won many awards, said simply she'll now be able to do as she pleases.

"Show of Shows" came to the end of a five-year run two seasons ago and the Caesar-Coca team split up.

Earned $500,000

Each struck out alone, but, in NBC's words, "Her show last season was not successful." She earned $500,000 anyway.

"Funny, isn't it," she remarked, "that getting loose from a $100,000 guarantee every year should be my idea of freedom?

"Security is awfully good but you can get terribly hampered by it."

The guarantee of a minimum of $100,000 a year was for 10 years.

NBC said, nevertheless, it was "not anxious for her to leave."

Said Miss Coca:

"Now I can do what I want. I love television, but . . . "

'Making More'

What she wants includes the stage, movies and night clubs.

"I just like to express myself," she said. Later she added: "'I'll be making more."

Miss Coca is planning now for a three-week engagement at the Sahara, Las Vegas, Nev., beginning Nov. 1. It will earn her $60,000 or $70,000.

Before that, however, she will break in her small, revue-type act in Dallas from Oct. 21 to 29.

"I can't understand," she said, "why everyone is so interested in this."

DEMO CHUDOFF:

Claims Power 'Fraud'

Holding Up Legal Opinion Called 'Bad Faith'

WASHINGTON (AP) — Rep. Chudoff (D-Pa) Tuesday accused the Interior Department of "bad faith" and "fraud" in the withholding of a legal opinion on a proposal to sell federal electric power in the South-east.

Chudoff made the accusation during a hearing into the administration's power policies before a House Government Operations subcommittee. Chudoff is chairman of the group, which has held three months of hearings in a sort of preview of the potential public-vs-private power issue for 1956 political campaigns.

The congressman took Interior Department officials to task for withholding, as he put it, an attorney general's opinion during negotiations for sale of power in Georgia from Clark Hill Dam.

Received

Asst. Secretary of Interior Fred Aandahl disclosed during crossexamination that his department had requested and received an opinion on the legality of a "tricontract" proposal. Under the proposal, private utilities would buy power and transmit it to rural electric co-operatives and other public agencies entitled by law to preferred service.

Aandahl said the attorney general held that Interior Department could not sign the tricontract proposal "at the present time" and that attempts should be made to sell the federal power directly to the preference customers.

Asked if the co-ops had been told about the opinion, Aandahl said they had not but there had been "some newspaper publicity" concerning it.

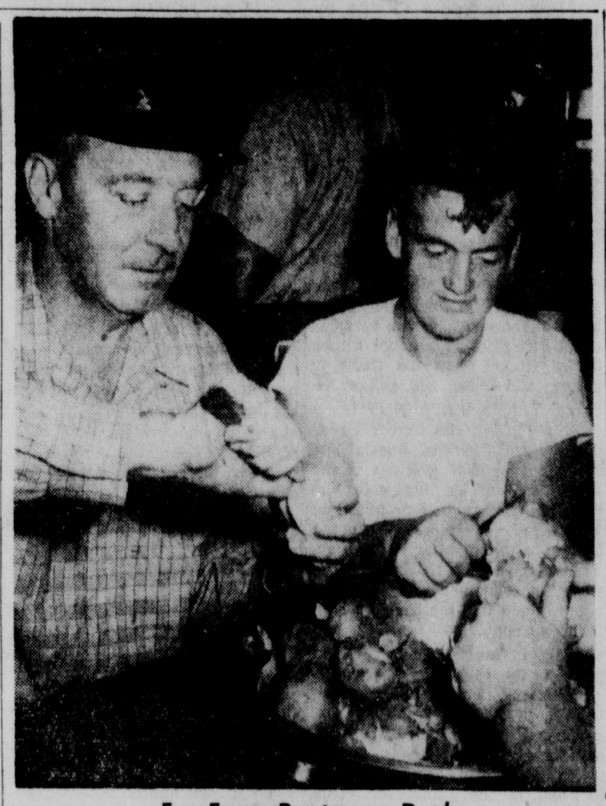

Questioned as to why his department had not released the opinion to the press, Aandahl said he felt any release should have been issued by the attorney general.

He said there was no reason to tell the Georgia Power Co. and co-operatives about the opinion since it came after the department had shelved the tricontract offer.

Chudoff said it seemed to him there was "some bad faith somewhere," but he was "not accusing Aandahl.

Rep. Hoffman (R-Mich) told Chudoff: "You can't find any other goat."

Rep. Dawson (D-Ill) declared interior officials were "trying to blackjack preference customers into taking the company's offer."

Waugh Talk Encourages Permanent Tariff Board

Samuel C. Waugh, Nebraskan named president of the Export-Import Bank by President Eisenhower, said Tuesday there should be a permanent and continuing body to administer and sponsor international tariff negotiations.

Until Aug. 25 an assistant Secretary of State for economic affairs, Waugh made his remarks to the 58th annual convention of the Nebraska Bankers Association in Lincoln.

Waugh told the state bankers, in a story of his two years with the State Department, that "the president is convinced and so am I that the interests of this country and of the whole world would be served better" if an international tariff negotiation body could be set up on a permanent and continuing basis.

He said the Congress of the United States will be asked to back up his action of signing the U. S. into such a body, along with 34 other nations, following sessions last March at Geneva.

In discussing his work during the past two years, Waugh said he was a "great believer in the fact the problem of India and Pakistan and in other under-developed lands in south and southeast Asia can best be epproached through simple community development."

This is said, he added, without discounting the importance of major projects that deal with irrigation, transportation, power or even steel mills. "But the simple truth is you can't industrialize over night."

Waugh said in the next two decades the area in the "Arc of Asia" will "surely be one of the most important in the world."

"Why do we send aid to that area?" Waugh asked. "In a way," he answered, "it's for the same reason that a big corporation donates money to a liberal arts college."

Aid Helps U. S.

He said the U.S. aids these countries in "our own interest, because we know that in this day and age our own well being and security depend to a very large extent on the strength and health of other free nations."

Waugh said "we are engaged in a mutual security program" with other nations, noting that "economics is somewhere near the heart of our foreign policy."

The former president of the First Trust Co. of Lincoln related he helped set up Japan's membership in a trade pact with 34 other nations to help the Japanese balance their economy.

During his work with the State Department, Waugh said, he traveled more than 120,000 miles in going to Europe, Asia, and Japan.

He said he still believes "our biggest domestic problem, second to balancing the budget, is the matter of disposing of our farm surplus." He said this, too, was a financial problem.

If the U.S. surplus was dumped on the international market, it would bankrupt the economies of many nations friendly to this country, he added.

Waugh was named to the presidency of the Export-Import Bank on Oct. 1 by President Eisenhower. He was named to his State Department post on June 4, 1953, and served there for two years.

Ike Condition Is Satisfactory

DENVER (INS)—The following bulletin on President Eisenhower's condition was issued late Tuesday:

"Mrs. Eisenhower visited with the President during his lunch period. Afterwards the President spent a quiet afternoon reading, resting and listening to music. At 4 p.m. the assistant to the President (Sherman Adams) spent 15 minutes with the President on routine government business. The President's condition continues to progress satisfactorily without complications." (A story on the Dulles-Eisenhower conference on Page 2.)

Workers will receive instructions and see a review of the work of Chest agencies.

The city's goal this year is $531,592, representing a 10 per cent increase over the amount raised last year. Increased activities and an expanding community were cited as reasons for the larger goal.

Farmer Loses Arm After Road Crash

Lincoln Star Special

VALPARAISO, Neb. — Frank Bartek, about 45, Valparaiso farmer, suffered a compound fracture which forced amputation of the left forearm Tuesday as the result of a hit-run car-truck collision seven miles west of here on State Highway 66.

Bartek was taken 40 miles to St. Elizabeth's Hospital in Lincoln by the Valparaiso Rescue Squad. He was reported in poor condition and semi-conscious.

Fire Chief Robert Lindholm of Valparaiso said Bartek muttered something about a vehicle heading toward his car and colliding with it.

A farmer living in the vicinity told Lindholm that he heard the crash, but when he arrived on the scene no other vehicle was around.

The Bartek vehicle was going east on Highway 66, Lindholm said, and was found on the south side of the road headed east with the left side of the vehicle damaged.

Lindholm said Bartek was riding alone in the car at the time.

All Woman Jury Brings Speedy Verdict Return

A Lancaster District Court jury has returned a verdict in the record time of 15 minutes. And the 12 jurors were all women.

The women found against the plaintiff and the defendant, both of whom were men, in a property damage suit resulting from a two-car collision.

Plaintiff Ed Schumacher had recovered some damages in Municipal Court, but Defendant Randall Collins appealed the judgment and his counter-claim.

After hearing the case before District Judge Harry Spencer, the all-woman jury retired at 3:29 p.m. and were back in the jury box at 3:44 p.m. with their verdict denying recovery to either man.

Adding to their feat was the fact they had to select one of their number as foreman before beginning deliberations.

Bankers Told They Must Represent 'Solid Thinking'

Nebraska bankers were told Tuesday night that they are the heart of their communities and that they must represent solid thinking.

Speaking to the Nebraska Bankers Association convention banquet, Judge William McCraw, Special Criminal District Court of Dallas, Tex., said, "We must be optimists, we must keep moving ahead to higher and better ground in order to fulfill the promise of America and of our communities."

Referring to the southwest, Judge McCraw said that most of the economists and business leaders in that part of the country are optimistic about both the short-range and long-range economic outlook.

He attributed their optimism to greater industrial output, more construction, higher wages and more personal income.

Earlier in the evening, Governor Victor Anderson welcomed the bankers and their guests.

Outlook Still Bad For Corn Crop

The Oct. 1 outlook for Nebraska's 1955 corn crop remains unchanged from the disappointing Sept. 1 forecast of 104,160,000 bushels. However, the Department of Agriculture announced, the state's wheat crop was given a slight increase to 79,090,000 bushels. Story appears on page 13.

Military Expert Baldwin:

Russia's Smile Has Weakened 'Grand Alliance'

By SALLY ADAMS
Star Staff Writer

Soviet Russia's "new look" has had a tremendous effect, Hanson W. Baldwin, military editor of the New York Times, said Tuesday night.

It has weakened the "Grand Alliance," he said, since nations are always more cohesive in times of danger or when under pressure.

As specific examples, he cited Britain's announcement that she was reducing her armed forces and the much smaller number of volunteers for the West German army following the Geneva conference.

Baldwin also pointed out the break-down in the Turkish, Greek, Yugoslavian alliance.

Wed To Policy

He said he believed the Russians are "wed to this new policy" for the time being since from their point of view it is very rewarding. They had come about as far as they could in Europe with their "tough" policy, he said.

The Russians were forced into such a policy, he said, by the consolidation of the world political picture and by their own internal problems.

The President's proposal for aerial inspection of military installations, Baldwin said, "was a masterful political and psychological stroke."

The President, he said, meant it as an "open wedge" since even as an early warning system, technologically it has many problems. Among these, he said, would be the "gargantuan task" of interpreting the photographs in time to do any good.

Times Military Expert Visits Campus

Russian acceptance of the proposal, he said, would be a real test of whether Russia had changed.

Comparing Russia's military strength with that of the United States, he said "we are clearly ahead at sea."

Baldwin said there are only two elements to be concerned about—submarines and sea mines, which the Russians used to good effect in Korea.

In the air, he said, the nations are about on a par although the U.S. is ahead in some fields.

Baldwin said Russia's strategic power is "not nearly as good as ours. It takes a lot more than just planes to make an air force."

The Russians' great advantage is on land, he said. When Communist China and the satellite states are added, he said, it makes a big discrepancy.

Baldwin will discuss "War, Politics and Atoms" at a University of Nebraska convocation at 10 a.m. Wednesday at the Coliseum. He addressed a dinner meeting of the Nebraska University Council on World Affairs Tuesday night.

Dulles Terms Talk With Ike 'Helpful'

President Signs Reply To Bulganin ...25-Minute Visit

DENVER (AP) — President Eisenhower and Secretary of State Dulles discussed Tuesday Soviet activities in the inflamed Middle East and Russian ideas on armaments in a momentous hospital bedside conference on foreign policy.

One by one, the chief executive and the secretary covered eight separate points in a 25-minute work session Dulles described as "very satisfactory" and "extremely helpful."

In their first conference since Eisenhower's Sept 24 heart attack, the two worked out an "interim" reply to a letter in which Soviet Premier Nikolai Bulganin had found fault with the President's proposals for trading military blueprints and for mutual aerial inspection of military installations.

President Signs

Eisenhower signed the reply a few minutes later. It was delivered to Dulles to carry back to Washington for transmission to Moscow and it will be made public, the secretary said, after it is received in the Russian capital.

Another of the eight points — Dulles declined to disclose all of them on grounds security is involved — was preparations for the Oct. 27 meeting in Geneva of the Big Four foreign ministers.

In addition, Dulles told a news conference, Eisenhower asked for a report on the secretary's speech Monday at the American Legion convention in Miami. In that address Dulles said that at this time the United States is not prepared to reduce military forces until it can be sure other countries also are doing so.

Dulles said the President was "very much pleased" with what he said.

The agenda of the Geneva foreign ministers' session had been described in advance as the main topic the chief executive and the secretary would discuss. Actually, their talks apparently ranged over a far broader field.

And, whereas the President's doctors had said the meeting would be limited to 15 minutes, Eisenhower's condition and spirits were so satisfactory after the morning examinations that they allowed an extra 10.

For Eisenhower, it was a doubly significant conference:

It marked the first working session with one of his cabinet members and the first opportunity to concentrate on foreign affairs since his heart seizure.

B'nai B'rith Plans Regional Meeting

Harry Yudcoff of Detroit, vice chairman of the structure committee of the Supreme Grand Lodge, will be the principal speaker.

Lincoln City Lodge 377 plans to send several delegates to the conference.

The student pleaded guilty and the judge fined him $10 for disobeying the command of an officer.

Just One Secret Pact At Potsdam

Truman Says It Was Russians' Agreement To Join Pacific War

WASHINGTON (AP) — Former President Truman says the only secret agreement made at the 1945 Potsdam conference was a pledge by the late Premier Stalin that the Soviet Union would carry out its commitment to join the war against Japan.

In the latest installment of his memoirs, published in Life Magazine, Truman also says he would not go along with a Soviet proposal that the United States, England and other allies in the Pacific War issue a formal invitation for Russia to get into the fighting.

'Cynical Move'

I saw in it," Truman says, "a cynical diplomatic move to make Russia's entry at this time appear to be the decisive factor to bring about victory. . . I was not willing to let Russia reap the fruits of a long and bitter and gallant effort in which she had no part."

All the same, the former President relates, getting Russia into the Japanese War was one of the main reasons for his going to Potsdam. Russia had promised at Yalta the year before to join the Pacific fighting after V-E Day. Truman says U. S. military leaders were "most anxious" to get a firm commitment that the Soviets would follow through.

"This I was able to get from Stalin in the very first days of the conference," Truman says. "We were at war, and all military arrangements had to be kept secret, and for this reason it was omitted from the official communique at the end of the conference. This was the only secret agreement made at Potsdam."

Churchill, Stalin Fight

Truman says the bitterest debate at his Potsdam meeting with Stalin and Winston Churchill — who was replaced as British prime minister part way through the conference by Clement Attlee — was over the Soviet satellite states.

He relates that Churchill declared an "Iron Fence" had been thrown around these countries, in violation of guarantees Russia had given at Yalta. And he says Stalin interrupted the British leader with the remark: "All fairy tales."

Despite a "sharp and lengthy" exchange, Truman says, no agreement ever was reached.

Truman makes these main other points in his review of the Potsdam conference:

1. Stalin's position was that Russia, the United States and Britain should settle all world affairs "and that nobody else had any business in it."

Stalin Likeable

2. Stalin personally appealed to him as a likeable fellow of "wry humor" and extreme politeness — but the Russians in general proved "pig-headed" and out to grab everything for themselves. Truman says he decided then and there to allow the Soviets no voice in the postwar occupation of Japan.

3. Truman frequently was exasperated by what he regarded as the Russian and British unwillingness to get down to brass tacks.

4. Stalin favored stripping conquered Germany of industry — as contemplated by the Morgenthau plan which Truman already had rejected.

Adenauer Has Pneumonia; Seriously Ill

BONN, Germany (AP) — West Germany's 79-year-old Chancellor Konrad Adenauer has pneumonia.

The sudden announcement Tuesday of his serious illness shocked the nation.

His physicians said Adenauer must remain in bed indefinitely. Vice Chancellor Franz Bluecher took over as acting chief of government.

Adenauer has been confined to his Rhineland village home five days. But until Tuesday his illness was described first as a cold and then as feverish bronchitis.

Special Bulletin

A special medical bulletin — the first issued since he became chancellor six years ago — finally disclosed that the feverish bronchitis has been "complicated by a slight bronchial pneumonia."

The bulletin said the inflammation of the lungs "is fading away" and "the fever has abated."

It was signed by Prof. Paul Martini, director of the Bonn University Medical Clinic, and Adenauer's family doctor, Frau Ella Bebber-Buch.

Board Okays County Tax Source Study

Commissioner Del Lienemann has proposed that Lancaster County make a study of sources of taxes or revenue being used by counties of similar size elsewhere in the nation.

Lienemann said any new revenue source from the study would be proposed as a replacement measure for all or part of the present burdensome real estate taxes.

The board approved the study, estimated to cost $50, but directed Lienemann to exhaust local information sources first.

Lienemann plans to send questionnaires to about 250 counties to compile the information.

If a good tax source were found, the county would seek enabling legislation from the Unicameral, Lienemann said.

"What would be good for this county, would be good for the rest," he added.

Commissioner Chris Kuhner joked that the study would only show some counties to get their main revenue from slot machines, such as Reno, Nev., and from oil wells, as in Texas.

However, Lienemann pointed out that counties elsewhere do use income tax, wage taxes and wheel taxes as revenue sources.

Junge Said New Assistant Director

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Department of Interior Tuesday declined to comment officially on reports a shift within its office of territories will elevate Carl L. Junge to the post of assistant director in charge of Alaskan affairs.

It was understood from other sources, however, an announcement of the shift would be made shortly.

Junge, of North Platte, Neb., and a former Lincoln businessman, came to the department Aug. 2 as assistant to the director of the territories office.

The assistant director now is Kirkley S. Coulter, former administrative aid to the late Sen. Butler (R-Neb) and chief clerk of the Senate insular affairs committee. Coulter, it is reported, would move into the now vacant position of deputy director of the territories program.

Slight Damage Caused By Wastebasket Fire

Firemen doused a wastebasket fire at the J. B. Branson apartment home at 1305 So. 19th that caused slight damage Tuesday evening.

The fire started in the bathroom of a second floor apartment occupied by Bower Sox. He was absent at the time. Smoke from the small fire damaged the walls of the bathroom.

The fire was discovered by a tenant in an adjacent apartment.

STRIKE CRIPPLES ST. LOUIS

ST. LOUIS (AP) — A sudden and unannounced transit strike struck the metropolitan St. Louis area a crippling blow Tuesday and busses and streetcars stayed idle with strikers ignoring a state order to return to work.

A general meeting of the striking AFL Operators Union was scheduled at 8 p.m. to consider further action.

The strike was voted Tuesday night. Operations of the St. Louis Public Service Co. came to a standstill shortly after midnight, and Gov. Phil M. Donnelly of Missouri ordered seizure of the utility by the state, effective at 6 a.m.

Donnelly sent telegrams from Jefferson City ordering the seizure. After receiving the governor's telegram Arthur E. East, president of the union, told newsmen:

"If the state has seized the company, our officers will do what they can to get the men back to work."

Thousands started for work unaware the strike was on and were forced to hitch-hike or use cars normally left at home.

Unpopular Opinion

by J. Gordon Roberts

For Your Intellectual Entertainment

We can expect a better world when anyone may use his capacities to the maximum without attack by rabble-rousers with popular support.

We can expect a better world when both governing and governed apply the same moral law—balance of dependencies with each expected to offer value-received.

We can expect a better world when the rule of balanced dependencies applies to the two sexes—when exploitation by either sex is not considered the "smart" thing.

For "love" without a desire to balance dependency amounts simply to emotional greed. Greed without regard is no more admirable in human society than in the hog lot, and far less understandable.

We can expect a better world when people realize the extent to which they create their own Heaven or Hell.

The suspicious, unhappy person finds himself surrounded by suspicious, unhappy people. Each lives in his own world of hatred or happiness.

Even though the dictator wields enormous power through ruling by fear, he lives in a nightmare world of fear from which he may not escape.

More Seeking Work In State

More persons were seeking jobs in Nebraska on Oct. 1 than last year on that date, the state Labor Department said Tuesday, although during the month of September unemployment insurance claims were lower than in September a year ago.

The division of employment security said on Oct. 1 a total of 7,554 persons had work applications on file, compared to 7,760 on Sept. 1 and 6,133 last Oct. 1.

However, the division reported, unemployment insurance claims averaged 1,552 each week in September this year, compared to 1,660 in August and 2,110 in September of 1954.

The division reported that during the month 373 farmers in central and eastern Nebraska were placed in jobs after applying for work because of drought conditions.

Total non-farm job placements totaled 6,790, compared to 6,827 in August.

Conditions around the state were listed as follows:

ALLIANCE: Manufacturing plants employed many of the women registered on Sept. 1 so that the end of month active file count is much lower.

BEATRICE: Labor supply decreased due to students returning to school and increased demand for food processors and construction workers.

FREMONT: General increase shown in registered job seekers. Many of these are students seeking part-time work. A number of farmers also seeking work in town.

GRAND ISLAND: Labor demand changed very little during the month. An increase of more than 200 people occurred in the count of job seekers registered with the Service.

HASTINGS: Little change was registered in the labor supply picture during September. Demand was best for clerical and sales workers, domestic and service workers and unskilled people.

KEARNEY: Supply of labor was augmented only slightly by students seeking parttime work. Increase over last year may be due to farmers registering from drought areas.

LINCOLN: Employment continued at a high level during September. The registered job seeker count was down 12 per cent from the first of the month. Labor demand was up 11 per cent over the previous month and 16 per cent more than a year ago.

McCOOK: Slight increase in labor supply as construction projects are completed. Labor situation can be considered good, indicated by small number drawing unemployment insurance.

NEBRASKA CITY: Moderate decline in number of persons seeking jobs through the office. Employer orders for non-farm workers in September fell below the August level.

NORFOLK: Registered job seekers as of Oct. 1 14 per cent above a month ago and considerably more than a year ago. Some of the increase can be attributed to drought conditions.

NORTH PLATTE: Better job situation has depleted worker supply as compared with last year. Over-all demand for non-farm workers was down 17 per cent as compared with August, but was 10 per cent ahead of September 1954.

OMAHA: September showed little change in the labor market picture for the area. Continuing favorable economic situation is indicated by an increase of 9 per cent in openings received from employers and a decrease of 18 per cent in claims for unemployment insurance.

SCOTTSBLUFF: Labor demand decreased slightly but was a little heavier than a year ago. Agricultural placements totaled 1,845.

SIDNEY: Nonagricultural demand was considerably lower than in August as well as in September 1954. Labor supply was fairly well in balance with demand during September.

PTA's Can Help Raise Family Living Standards, Saylor Tells Conference

Lincoln Star Special

ELMWOOD, Neb. — Parent-teachers association can help parents raise standards of family living, Dr. Galen Saylor of Lincoln told those attending the fall conference of District I, Nebraska Congress of Parents and Teachers held here Tuesday.

Dr. Saylor, state PTA president, said the PTA can help make the home the center of spiritual and moral learning for the child.

Mrs. Wendell Groth of Lincoln, district director, presided at the conference held at the Methodist Church. Mrs. Robert Moore of Peru was installed as new director of the district at the close of the meeting.

About 180 delegates attended the conference which consisted of a series of morning workshops and an afternoon panel discussion.

Dr. Calvin Reed of the University of Nebraska, moderating the panel discussion, urged that parents become better acquainted with their children's teachers and participate in more home-school projects. He said teachers should use more human resources in classroom instruction.

Panel speakers were Mrs. P. S. Carter of Omaha, state first vice president; Mrs. Doris N. Fulton of Omaha, state membership chairman; Mrs. Fred Sehnert of Lincoln; Mrs. A. E. Hanneman of Lincoln, former state president; and Sanford Clemens of Elmwood, past president of the Elmwood PTA.

Workshops and their moderators were:

Program and publicity — Mrs. Carter.

Publication and the PTA magazine—Mrs. Herman Siefkes of Lincoln and Mrs. Sehnert.

Membership—Mrs. Fulton.

Parliamentary law and council representatives—Mrs. E. R. Baker, president of the Falls City PTA Council, and Mrs. William McDermet, president of the Lincoln PTA Council.

Turfman Baroni Ends Own Life

SAN GABRIEL, Calif. (INS)—A. A. (Bert) Baroni, 68, noted turfman and owner of the late great thoroughbred Top Row, shot himself to death Tuesday at his luxurious San Gabriel home.

Police said Baroni killed himself by firing a 38-caliber bullet through his head. He was pronounced dead at Temple City Hospital.

Baroni was one of southern California's best known race horse owners and trainers.

Before the revival of racing in California, he was a well known turfman in New England and New York.

He was best known nationally as the owner of Top Row, winner of the $100,000 Santa Anita Handicap in 1936. Top Row died recently.

Faith Renewed In Soil Conservation Programs–Hruska

OMAHA (AP)—The extremely dry summer has renewed the faith of Nebraska farmers in water and soil conservation work in the opinion of Sen. Roman Hruska of Nebraska.

"I have been impressed with the protection soil conservation and watershed development work has given Nebraska farmers against near-drought conditions this year," he said in a statement.

"The whole Nebraska economy suffers in a situation like this," Hruska went on. "It shows we must continue our conservation efforts to alleviate adverse weather conditions in the future."

These, he went on "are primarily 'do it yourself' programs and they pay off in more ways than one."

For Flying Safety

Radar, the electronic wonder instrument that found its first use in war, is being sent to serve the security of people.

Fred B. Lee, administrator of civil aeronautics, has announced plans for the nation's first all radar airway. It will be established between Boston and Norfolk, Va.

What it means is that every mile of the route will be watched on radar screens and every flight will be guarded by the watchful eye and the precise instruction of Civil Aeronautics stations. Unquestionably it will greatly reduce the accidents of flight that result from the less dependable radio.

The Boston-Norfolk installation will be a pilot study and from it by military and civil aeronautics co-operation radar coverage of other parts of the nation will be developed for the dual purpose of civilian and military security.

American commercial flying has achieved a good safety record, but the quest of security cannot end until all preventable accidents have been eliminated. It is only logical that radar belongs to peace as much as to war and in safeguarding plane travel it will be serving one of its greatest uses. Of the decision to so employ it one can only approve with the admonition to make haste.

Contemplating A Problem

A farm organization's state convention here this week addressed itself to a study of the declining fortunes of the farmer. Elsewhere in Lincoln an informal group of bankers, awaiting the opening of their state convention agreed that Nebraska's farm economy was not good. And further elsewhere organizers were soliciting joiners for an agricultural protest association. The latter, an incipient movement, revealed symptoms of discontent similar to those of the late '20's when, as now, there was a lagging farm economy in an otherwise prospering nation.

Farm groups, bankers and others interested may differ in their analysis of the ailment, but all are agreed, the agricultural patient is not feeling good. They all agree the farmer is caught in the price-cost squeeze. That is a good point of beginning.

Nebraska like other fertile farming areas is far from the hardships of the early '30's. It is simply experiencing a portentous downturn after two score years of improving fortunes. Prudence requires that the problem be recognized and that safeguards be invoked to prevent history from repeating itself. The agricultural area has a fresh enough memory of the errors of the late '20's to avert any repetition.

Perhaps the greatest error of that time was an attitude of patience, drifting into one of complaint, and finally into one of rebellion. There was an absence of a will to meet the problem head-on with constructive thought and action. It was a drift.

It will do little good to wait and worry. The agricultural community owes it to itself and to the nation to publish its real problems and to participate in the constructive thinking toward a remedy. It will be frustrating to mull over old ideas which have each, in their turn, failed. But the current condition calls for brave and venturesome thinking and the agricultural community, being closest to the problem and the first to suffer, has a leading responsibility in that direction.

At Bargain Prices

We can pretty well ease the pressure of domestic developments, Doris Fleeson notes, while the President is convalescing. But in the international field we are but half the equation and the other half in pursuit of its purposes can increase the pressures.

Secretary of State John Foster Dulles conferred with President Eisenhower in Denver Tuesday prior to taking off for Europe. There was an answer to a letter which Mr. Eisenhower had received from Russia's Bulganin to be prepared by the secretary of state. That apparently was the less difficult of matters to be considered, matters which it would be the wish of the American people should not be loaded on the shoulders of the ailing President.

About the most pressing of those matters is Moscow's arms deal with Egypt. The State Department knows, Neal Stanford writes in the Christian Science Monitor, that by sending arms to Egypt, Moscow might not only touch off an arms race in the Middle East that could explode into full-scale war between Israel and the Arab world, but leap over barriers set up in Greece and Turkey by the Truman doctrine. That opens up the possibility, perhaps too crudely expressed, of Moscow's becoming the protector of the Arab world. It is a very real danger.

"The Soviets," Stanford adds, "have arms, figuratively, running out of their ears. They have a stock of usable, salable, but not last-minute weapons that dwarfs most national arsenals. They have thousands of post-war tanks and jet fighter planes that are surplus by Soviet standards but in A-1 shape for Arab use. They have the MIG-15's not being expended in Korea, in Indochina, or Formosa—some 4,000 to 6,000 of these planes that are no match for the newest Soviet jet fighters but would please any Arab pilot or defense chief. From the Soviet standpoint, the setup couldn't be better. The Arabs want these weapons; the Soviets have them by the thousands. The Arabs hold the gateways to the warm waters of the Mediterranean and the Indian Ocean; the Soviets would give their eyeteeth for access to those waters. And now it develops that all they may have to give is some used surplus weapons! You can't blame them for smiling broadly and contentedly and momentarily forgetting about unpleasant subjects. This is that ideal setup that lets you eat your cake and have it, too."

The continuing armament race, with constant improvement in weapons, naturally means that over-age or surplus war materials will seek a market at bargain prices. There, in one single field, rarely coming to public attention, is a part of the present-day burden of the presidency.

Navy Moves In

American battleships and war planes stood off Tampico, Mexico, last week. It was the first time any sizable American military force took a stand in those waters since 1914. That time it was to emphasize U.S. displeasure. This time it was just the opposite.

The American task force was carrying medicine, food and relief to the Tampican sufferers from hurricane and flood, and helicopters were busy evacuating the sick and injured. The Mexican press referred to it as Operation Friendship.

The American people are pleased at the thoughtfulness that dispatched the U.S. ships so promptly and welcome the opportunity to do an act of good will to friends below the border. The warm feeling of friendship is in equal evidence down Mexico way. It is a fine example of how all nations can get along if they wish it.

Of Men And Things

By J. E. LAWRENCE

The Omaha World-Herald bleeds from every pore for Vice President Richard Nixon. Amazing statements are being made about him these days, it says. Incredibly vicious opinions are presented as "facts." The wildest rumors are given credence by "liberal" columnists. The campaign to blacken Mr. Nixon's name, a campaign which was going strong before the President's illness, has been stepped up to the point of frenzy.

★

That is not the way "we heard it." Outwardly, at least, during this emergency created by the temporary illness of the President, things have been moving forward smoothly with a minimum of confusion and with the members of Ike's team pulling together. This "tremendous fuss" — this "all-out 'Hate-Nixon' campaign" —this "venomous treatment for those of the Eisenhower team who work well with Mr. Nixon"—seems to have no more substance in fact than is given it in the Herald's fevered eyes. Both Walter Lippman and Roscoe Drummond, who now seem to disturb the Herald, were staunch, loyal friends of the President and the vice president in the campaign of 1952 and certainly in the years that have followed have written little if anything to suggest that their enchantment with the administration has lessened. If the Herald thinks that Mr. Nixon should be the choice of the Republican national convention for President in 1956—of course, in the event that Ike does not run—then let it say so. No doubt it will find a surprisingly large number within the Republican party, for what they regard as good reason, having a different view of it. If Lippman, Drummond, the Alsops, and others of whom the Herald complains have their doubts about Mr. Nixon's availability as a candidate for President a year hence, then surely the Herald would not deny them the opportunity to express themselves if they see fit to do so. Surely all wisdom relating to what is good for America is not necessarily confined to the editorial offices of the World-Herald.

Herald's Fevered Eyes

To us, all of this speculation since the President was taken ill is a bit premature, to speak with greatest charity, and offensive to many much more concerned with Mr. Eisenhower's convalescence than with picking someone to succeed him a year hence. Mr. Nixon has been a very fortunate man. He has never hesitated to dish it out in a political campaign when he thought the circumstances justified such action. If the early signs mean anything, then we fear that the blood pressure of the American people may take a jump. There is a long time to go, but in certain quarters, it appears, the disposition already is to pick candidates.

★

New York Gov. Averell Harriman has cooled in his support of Adlai Stevenson, so the news columns tell us, apparently on the basis of words uttered by Mr. Harriman himself in a television appearance. So far as Mr. Stevenson is concerned, he, not Mr. Harriman, has been talking about the thing of primary interest to midwestern people. He has devoted himself largely in recent weeks to falling prices for farm commodities. That is the one development which concerns the Midwest, Republicans and Democrats alike, more than anything else at this time. Why not? Hog prices have been declining steadily. And in the language of the farm, it was the porker which could be depended upon to lift the mortgage. Cattlemen have been worried and the producers of grain—wheat and corn, particularly —are giving serious thought to the position in which they find themselves. Certainly there will be the opportunity for a much more informed, clearcut view at the close of 1955, and still better early in the spring of 1956.

Long Way To Go

If security prices continue to sink and if farm commodity prices keep on dropping, there will be something of much greater concern to the American people to occupy their energies and their thought than whether Dickie Nixon is being treated unfairly by the so-called liberal columnists.

Nixon Settles Back To VP Role

WASHINGTON — A play for power always takes place around the person of an ailing president or monarch. Some of the most disastrous intrigue in our history took place during the illness of Woodrow Wilson, when Secretary of State Lansing, uncle of John Foster Dulles, was forced to resign because he tried to take over some of the powers of the President.

Power politics also occurred during the closing year of Franklin Roosevelt's administration when it became apparent he could not last much longer; and the illness of President Eisenhower has been no exception.

The political bickering behind Ike's back has been kept largely from the public and so far hasn't affected important policy. But behind the pleasant statements and the trip by Vice President Nixon to Denver has been the definite fact that Nixon made a bold bid for power and was blocked off by potent members of the Eisenhower staff and cabinet.

For a time, Nixon's attempt to move in as acting president caused deep resentment among the White House personnel and he was told rather bluntly that the staff and cabinet could carry on without his barging into the picture.

Part of this inside power struggle has already been told. Part is still held very close to the chest of top cabinet members and probably will be denied. However, it's extremely important in connection with the question of who will inherit Ike's mantle as GOP candidate in 1956.

PRESIDENT VS. V.P.

The founding fathers made no clear provisions that the vice president should take over the powers of the president in case of illness, and practice has kept the two offices largely separate.

Charles G. Dawes, for instance, missed a tie vote in the Senate under Calvin Coolidge because he said his alarm clock didn't go off and he overslept. But it was reliably reported that Dawes' late arrival was deliberate. The two men didn't get along.

Vice President Jack Garner likewise was completely out of sympathy with much of the Roosevelt program. Vice President Charles Curtis was never close to Herbert Hoover, and Vice President Henry Wallace, though in sympathy with Roosevelt and given charge of the Board of Economic Warfare, was in constant battle with Jesse Jones and Cordell Hull.

Nixon, long before Eisenhower became ill, had staged an adroit and partially successful drive to become part of the executive branch of government. He even managed to get himself photographed as presiding over a cabinet meeting while Eisenhower was in Geneva. So far as observers can recall, this was the first time, certainly in recent history, that a cabinet meeting was held under the vice president.

☆ ☆ ☆

NIXON MOVES IN

Immediately after Eisenhower was stricken, however, Nixon moved in with a bang. He and close friends proposed that he become, in effect, acting president.

This has already been denied, and will be denied again. Now that the President seems well on the road to recovery Nixon's friends don't want it to appear that he tried to move in on the White House. However, the fact is that he did, and many members of the White House staff resented it. So did most members of the cabinet.

Hitler Death Proof Could Help Heirs

NEW YORK (INS) — The relatives of Adolph Hitler and Eva Braun have been attempting for a decade to get the German courts to declare them dead officially. Greed rather than historical clarification moves them.

Hitler left three properties: the great rambling house atop Berchtesgaden, a more modest place in Munich, and his book, "Mein Kampf."

The courts up to now have considered Hitler and his wife alive for want of a witness who saw them dead. Hitler's valet, Heinz Linge, just returned from 10 years in a Russian prison, may offer the testimony that will clear up the matter to the full satisfaction of the German jurisprudence.

He entered Hitler's bedroom immediately after the man shot himself through the mouth on the afternoon of April 30, 1945. Linge put a blanket over the body and with the aid of a chauffeur carried it to the garden outside where lay the body of Eva Braun, who had died just earlier of perhaps the same poison capsule that Goering used to kill himself at Nuremberg.

Linge spread Hitler's blanket over both bodies, soaked them in gasoline, and touched a match to what lay there. He was captured by the Russians shortly after that and only now has been released. His testimony should give the courts the necessary confirmation of the obvious fact that the despot is dead and gone.

When last observed, the Eagle's Nest at Berchtesgaden, looking down on some of the most beautiful countryside in the world, was a tea house and tourist attraction.

Ten years ago, Allied officers stationed in that area told me they contemplated scraping the whole thing off the top of the delightful mountain, in fear that it might become a Nazi shrine. But everybody who has been to Germany since V-E Day knows full well that there aren't any Nazis, nor can you meet a German who ever knew one.

The house in Munich shouldn't produce any more income for the heirs than, say, Wallis Warfield's house in Baltimore. But the book remains a valuable property, especially if royalties can be collected from firms that pirated the manuscript and printed it outside Germany for their own benefit.

☆ ☆ ☆

One firm we know of sold the books like mad and announced with pious hypocrisy that Hitler, the louse, wouldn't receive a penny for the sales. The pirate neglected to mention that he was keeping it all for himself.

But the Berchtesgaden place could become one of the top tourist traps of that part of the world, travelers being either curious or morbid or both.

Brother Alois Shicklegruber, serving the suds or taking tickets at the entrance of the two-story elevator that climbs the last few hundred feet of the mountain to the aerie, should be quite an added attraction. He is the white sheep of Hitler's family.

Ike's Illness Puts Slowdown On West

WASHINGTON — The real misfortune of President Eisenhower's illness is striking abroad. Almost everywhere it looks beyond the water's edge the administration sees deep trouble and very few solutions.

The newest development in the ominous catalogue of difficulties is the defeat of Chancellor Adenauer in an important West German State election where membership in NATO and plans to build a West German army were big issues. The voters rejected an appeal to show the world their support of the chancellor, and instead gave the bitterest opponent of his policies, the socialists the biggest majority ever.

It had already become clear that the spirit of Geneva did not include any real progress on German unification. It is admitted that the Russians are determined either to keep Germany divided or insure its neutrality under a government that would include Communists.

Second thoughts on Geneva are indeed almost as gloomy as they were, at first, roseate. It is being recognized that Russia has done nothing really substantial to back up its smiles and cordiality while both France and Britain are already cutting back their armed forces available for Europe's defense.

Victories won by the anti-colonialist bloc with the co-operation of the Soviet Union have made the United Nations a place of doubt and uneasiness. The United States has pursued a zigzag course in the U.N. France has walked out and Britain and the Netherlands are on the defensive.

Soviet arms for Egypt have tightened the Middle East screw and a real possibility that Cairo will become a center of Soviet arms for troubled Africa, North and South, has had to be faced. In this area nothing seems to work for the West and Russia gets home free.

In any real debate over the situation, the State Department will be haunted by its early boasts that Geneva was a striking victory and so was Chancellor Adenauer's visit to Moscow and the Afro-Asian conference at Bandung dramatized the strength of free institutions.

The President, when well, has the stature here and abroad, to overcome the general pessimism. But it was quite evident in the United Nations last week that his illness had left a gap no other American can fill. Foreign diplomats make no secret of present doubts and misgvings on U.S. policy.

Bar Rejects Subversive List

WASHINGTON — The American Bar Association has eliminated from the certification all new members must sign any reference to the attorney general's list of subversive organizations. In the continuing controversy over security versus freedom this is a significant step for the nation's lawyers to have taken.

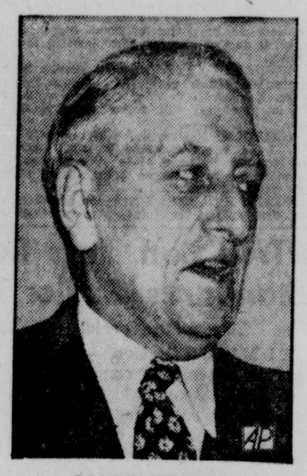

It is the first response to the call by Lloyd Wright, retiring president of the Bar Association, at the association's convention in Philadelphia in August for a "bloodless revolution" to restore "ancient liberties." That call was cheered by the convention.

The certification formerly in use required applicants for ABA membership to state that to the best of their knowledge they did not belong to any of the 300 or more organizations on the attorney general's list. The new certification is as follows:

"I hereby certify that no disciplinary proceedings are pending against me, that I have never been disbarred or suspended from the practice of law, that I am not now or have I ever been a member of the Communist party or of any organization which to my knowledge is a subversive organization and that, if elected, I will abide by the association's constitution, its by-laws and its canons of ethics."

☆ ☆ ☆

Perhaps the most-persistent critic of the list has been former Sen. Harry P. Cain, now a member of the subversive activities control board. He has attacked it because, until recently at any rate, organizations were put on the list by the arbitrary finding of the attorney general without any hearing. Many of the organizations have long since gone out of existence. Others consisted chiefly of mailing lists, and individuals on such lists sometimes did not even know that they had been put down as "members."

LLOYD WRIGHT

In a speech before the national conference on citizenship in September Sen. Cain asked the American Bar Association to say by what standard it found the listed organizations to be subversive. He pointed to the increasingly widespread use of the list as a yardstick of fitness for employment.

As a member of the five-member board, Cain is now holding hearings in Seattle, Washington, his home state, to determine whether the Washington Pension Union is a Communist-front organization under the definition laid down in the law creating the subversive activities control board. The Pension Union was a potent political organization in the state when it had 30,000 members, but its membership has greatly declined.

Under the law the attorney general certifies his belief that an organization is subversive and the board must then, on the basis of extensive hearings, determine whether the "preponderance" of evidence supports this conclusion. Thus far 16 organizations have been alleged to be Communist fronts. In two instances the attorney general was upheld. Five cases were dismissed because of lack of proof that the organization was in existence. The remaining nine, including the Pension Union case, are still to be passed on.

The first classification under the law covers Communist-action groups, and the Communist party alone fits this category. The subversives board found that the Pension Union party was a Communist-action group. The party's appeal before the Supreme Court, the first major test of the law, is attracting wide attention.

Again and again since his appointment to the subversives board Cain has expressed his concern over the jeopardy to civil liberties and the constitutional freedoms in the expansion of a rigid security system. He has been one of the most outspoken critics of what he is convinced have been injustices in the working of the system.

Thereby he is said to have stirred the smouldering wrath of Atty. Gen. Herbert Brownell and others in the Eisenhower administration who insist that with a new approach there are proper safeguards making it possible to protect the innocent while at the same time removing alleged subversives.

But Cain has shown no sign that he is aware of having incurred the enmity of powerful forces in the present administration. He goes on expressing his conviction that American freedoms are being eroded away. And he speaks out of a knowledge of his own first-hand experience in the troubled and difficult field of security and loyalty.

Tardy Awakening

Lincoln, Neb.

To the editor of The Lincoln Star: Seems to me that it is a tardy awakening to discover in the Tidelands controversy that the issue of Louisiana's boundary out to sea is precluded by the legislation adopted in 1953. This is a poor time to find that out. Since the Congress was determined to reverse a previous ruling of the Supreme Court by legislation, the least Congress could have done was to specify not only Louisiana's boundary offshore, but also those of Texas and California. These states stand to gain; the American people to lose a fabulous amount in oil royalties. Did Congress have any advice when it voted to turn the Tidelands riches back to the states?

O. D.

Editor's note: The cases to Texas and Louisiana presented special problems in the Tidelands legislation. There the richest submerged oil lands extended out to sea. It has been said that the shallow Continental Shelf offered excellent opportunities for oil development as far as 25 miles offshore. If Congress discussed the extent of state boundaries at the time legislation was before it, that fact did not attract public attention.

New Homes An Asset

Lincoln, Neb.,

To the editor of The Lincoln Star: It would seem that city officials would give more earnest consideration than they do to prospective or actual new home owners. Being in this category, we did not have to be told last week by The Star that new plats or developments of new housing areas were being held up by red tape at the City Hall.

When we decided to buy our own home, we picked out a lot and house plan in a southeast section that was soon to be transformed from open prairie into roof tops, paving and green grass. To our surprise, this transformation took more than a year and was only partially completed.

Paving lagged way behind the finished house and grades for establishing streets and sidewalks were impossible to get from the city engineering department. We are young and just getting started but if we moved at the city's pace, I know we would never get anywhere.

These new developments should be looked upon as an asset and spurred along by the city. They provide many new taxpayers and help ease the housing shortage which we so vividly remember from our rental days. Why all this inconvenience and hardship?

Building A Team

Lincoln, Neb.

To the editor of The Lincoln Star: Mr. Don Bryant is so right. In the Oct. 10 Lincoln Star, he hit the nail on the head. Glassford is being paid $12,500 per year to coach a football team, not to make excuses every Sunday in the papers. His record speaks for itself — he is not an organizer nor coach. The scholarship program plus a little coaching should certainly give us a better team than the teams of Bill Glassford.

We realize that "Rome wasn't built in a day" but at least at the end of seven years, they were a lot farther along than when they started.

Keep up the good work, Mr. Bryant!

HOME—DIVIDED

For better and for worse they vowed,
Together until death should part;
But each of self being over-proud
They let the petty quarrels start.

They listened to what others said,
Since much they heard they wished to hear.
Love from the constant wrangling fled
And home became a dwelling drear.

Not always can the vows be kept.
No passing fancy long endures.
After the tears of hurt are wept
'Tis love alone the home secures.

Who would their home and marriage save
Until to part them death appears,
Have disappointment oft to brave,
And much to bear with down the years.

Separate Jr.-Sr. High Units At NE Receive Tentative OK

A separation of Northeast junior and senior high school grades has been given preliminary approval by the Board of Education.

Authorization was given by the Board to Superintendent of Schools Steven N. Watkins to pursue the matter of a site for a new junior high unit apart from the present Northeast combination building. The new junior high school will be some where between Northeast and Millard Lefler.

According to Watkins, Northeast is now filled to capacity with a combined enrollment of 1,633 students. By 1958, he said, enrollment would show 800 senior high and 1,050 junior high students, a condition which could not be continued beyond that time.

2,435 By 1961

By 1961, Watkins predicts a total junior-senior enrollment in the Northeast area of 2,435 and by 1966 a figure of 3,535.

There are definite advantages to splitting the two levels of education, said Watkins. Junior high students in a combined junior-senior high school do not receive the proper leadership development and are thrown into too high social and emotional conditions, he said.

The combined unit, he said, does offer certain economic advantages through joint use of facilities.

Watkins also reported that Millard Lefler will need a new addition by 1958. By 1960, he said, Southeast High will need an addition if only the minimum expected growth is experienced.

Only A Plan, Already Full

Still in the plan preparation stage, Bryan Primary school at 40th and Franklin has already been enlarged. Each of grades one through three will have three instead of two classrooms and kindergarten will have one classroom.

Final plans were also approved by the Board for the new Meadow Lane School at Vine and West Aven Lane. Bids will be opened Dec. 1 on this estimated $625,000 project.

A federal aid project, the government will contribute up to $560,000 on the school. The Lincoln School District must pay all costs in excess of the federal grant.

The grant was obtained because of the number of federally connected students in the Lincoln District.

Bids are to be taken Oct. 18 for the Eastridge Elementary addition.

Adult High Rolls Now Count 262

Latest figures show a total enrollment of 262 students in general adult education classes in the Lincoln school system.

There are 662 subjects being offered this year. Enrollment includes 100 civilians and 162 airmen. The Adult High School now has the largest attendance on record.

Almost All Fall Wheat In Ground

Government crop observers reported Tuesday that virtually all of Nebraska's fall-planted wheat has now been seeded and the crop made "marked improvement" last week.

Only where soil is still too wet has seeding been held up, although planting has averaged about a week later than usual.

The rye crop, also planted in the fall, made similar good improvement and the outlook for rye pasture is good, according to the weekly review by the State Federal Division of Agricultural Statistics.

Some corn may turn out a lot better than expected, the report indicated.

Some Good

"Yields will range from failure over much of the dry land areas to yields that are above expectations in other areas," the review said.

Husking has started but moisture content is still too high for cribbing in some areas. Most corn had matured before the first killing frost Oct. 7.

More than two thirds of the counties now have ample surface moisture but subsoil moisture remains generally short except in the panhandle.

Other crop report observations:

Harvest of dry edible beans in western Nebraska was about 75 per cent complete as of last weekend. Harvesting of late potatoes and sugar beets has started and both crops are promising.

Pasture has improved in southern Nebraska and late September rains softened range feed in the Sandhills.. Alfalfa has made satisfactory growth for this time of year.

Plenty Clover

The red clover seed crop of 2,700,000 pounds is three times last year's production and more than 50 per cent above the average. Sweet clover seed production of 5,400,000 pounds tops last year's yield by nearly two million pounds.

Reports aslo indicate good yields of an increased acreage of alfalfa left for seed.

About 60 per cent of the counties report ample feed grains but only a few report a surplus. A few counties have enough pasture and most o fthe Sandhills area reports sufficient range feed.

September averaged slightly warmer and wetter than normal. Moderate to heavy rains were frequent after the 18th and practically all the rain went into the ground.

Six Inmates Testify Sagaser Had No Part In Prison Riot

By VIRGIL FALLOON
Star Staff Writer

Six Penitentiary inmates, called Tuesday afternoon by the defense in the second-degree arson trial of Gilbert Sagaser, testified that the defendant had no part in firing the prison buildings last Aug. 16.

Four inmates testified that Sagaser was in the recreation area and near the guard's kitchen before and during the prison fire.

Two inmates who have admitted arson charges said on the witness stand that the defendant was not with them when the fires were set.

Inmate Harvey E. Carroll, a previously-convicted arsonist, told the jury he "set a fire" in the carpenter shop because "I guess I get a thrill out of watching them burn . . ."

Gave Statement

Carroll admitted on cross-examination giving a statement in which he identified about a dozen inmates as being in the carpenter shop, including Sagaser, and said they had thrown stuff on the fire, but he denied on the stand that this statement was true.

"That part of the statement is not true," he said. 'I was scared. Sgt. (Robert) Nichols threatened to get me for perjury. So I said others did it."

Guy E. McCoy, another inmate who participated in the fire, testified he "did not see Sagaser in the carpenter's shop" while he was there.

Defense Attorney William Nuerenberger sought to establish by testimony of four other inmates that Sagaser was in the recreation area and near the guard's kitchen before the fire broke out and during the burning of the buildings.

(The recreation area is in the northeast corner of the prison yard and removed from the carpenter shop and others, located in the central portion of the yard, which were burned.)

Inmates John Cripps, George Hussing Jr., William B. Hart, and Raymond E. Tapia testified.

Earlier Tuesday County Attorney Elmer Scheele called eight prison guards and officers as witnesses before resting the state's case about 2:30 p.m.

A defense motion to dismiss the case at the conclusion of the state's evidence was overruled by Judge Paul White.

For the state, Guard Robert L. Mutchie told of a group of 11 or 12 prisoners, including the defendant, who were complaining about the jailing of two other inmates and planned a sit-down strike to ask the warden to release the pair.

If this wasn't done, they planned a riot, Mutchie said.

Mutchie said he reported the conversation to Lt. Gerald Ryan, a guard officer in the mess hall, who relayed the inmates' demands that Warden Joseph Bovey and Penal Director B. B. Albert come to the messhall when the sitdown strike started about 4:30 p.m.

Capt. Robert H. Holt, guard officer in the dining hall, said it was his decision to withdraw the guards from the messhall. (Dep. Warden John Greenholtz testified earlier he understood it was the warden's order.)

After guards were withdrawn, the inmates broke out into the yard.

It was learned the defense may rest its case Wednesday morning. Sagaser has not yet taken the stand in his own defense.

While the prosecution is expected to call rebuttal witness, the case could reach the jury late Wednesday afternoon.

PO Official Calls Claim 'Distortion'

DETROIT (AP) — The operating head of the Post Office Department vigorously denied Tuesday that any postmasters have beeen removed for political reasons.

At the same time, Asst. Postmaster General Norman R. Abrams challenged Sen. Olin D. Johnston (D-SC) to turn over to the Justice Department any information he might have about any illegal ousters.

Johnston, in Washington, had announced that a "sweeping" investigation will be made by his Senate Post Office and Civil Service Committee, with hearings in eight states.

Abrams, addressing a national convention of postmasters in Detroit, called Johnston's charges "a downright distortion of facts."

Gift To Austria

VIENNA (AP) — Twenty-three Soviet T34 tanks arrived in Vienna as a gift for the Austrian army. Thirteen carloads of Russian ammunition were received earlier this month. Soviet authorities indicated they will also include 20 light training planes and various artillery among their gifts.

Glancing Blow

TOKYO (Wednesday) (INS) — Typhoon Nora dealt thickly-populated Tokyo a glancing blow but left comparatively little damage in its wake as it whirled back over the Pacific.

For more than four hours the storm buffeted the Japanese capital and surrounding areas with gusts up to 80 miles per hour and drenching rains.

But the metropolis was spared the greater fury of the typhoon's central winds which spun northeast some 70 miles from Tokyo at a 100 mph clip.

Tribute Released

DENVER (INS) — President Eisenhower's tribute to Christopher Columbus, written before he suffered a heart attack 17 days ago, was made public Tuesday.

In a letter to the Columbus Citizens' Committee, which held its annual dinner in New York Tuesday night, Mr. Eisenhower describes the explorer as "a source of inspiration to all, who, under God, would search the unknown and advance the frontiers of human knowledge for the betterment of mankind."

Oil Discovered

JERUSALEM, Israel Sector (AP) — Drillers have struck oil again at Heletz Huleikat, near the Gaza Strip, it was announced. The announcement said the strike was made in the same borings in which oil was found on Sept. 22.

Curtis Advises New Approaches For Farmers

U.S. Senator Carl Curtis advised Nebraska farmers to brave new approaches to the recurring and unsolved problems of agriculture.

Addressing the 45th convention of the Nebraska State Grange at a luncheon Tuesday, the Nebraska senator reminded some 100 delegates that continuing debate of rigid versus flexible price supports deals with a factor that affects but 34 per cent of the state's farm income.

An overall attack on the current cost-price squeeze, he said, calls for recognition of the evils of the past 20 years.

He advocated improved foreign markets, continued search for new uses for farm products, drought insurance through soil and water conservation pratices, using government credit, and revised federal policies that will lessen the cost of things the farmer buys.

Curtis asserted that a necessity for a balanced economy is maintaining the national importance of agriculture although farm mechanization has reduced farm population to 13 per cent of the national total.

The three-day Grange convention is expected to attract upward of 350 participants, although the organization's two-year term officers hold over until 1956 with the exception of one director.

Wednesday sessions will be highlighted by a morning address by Dersey Kirk, master of the Illinois Grange; a luncheon address by Nebraska University Chancellor Clifford M. Hardin, and announcement of state contest awards at the evening banquet.

Dr. H. C. Filley of Lincoln, master of the Nebraska Grange, called for a broadening of the Nebraska tax base to provide for a sales tax. He warned that the current price-cost squeeze on agriculture will usher in a repetition of the "earlier phases of the long depression if it is permitted to continue."

Filley advocated steps against monopoly controls which have increased the cost of manufacturing and transporting goods and asserted that greater use of farm cereals could be found in the resumption of synthetic rubber manufacture. Synthetic rubber plants operated during World War II, he said, were heavy users of grain alcohol.

Filley also saw relief from surplus grains in further reduction of planted acres and increased use of farm products in industry.

Board Names Redistricting Committee

The state Board of Education Tuesday named a new school redistricting committee consisting of Walter French, Stromsburg, one year; Allen Burkhardt, Norfolk, two years; Mrs. Paul Morrison, Mitchell, three years; William Brandt, Unadilla, four years, and Lester Harsch, Bartley, five years.

The new committee replaces one originally named by the governor when the redistricting law was passed in 1949. Later legislation provided appointment by the state Board.

The old committee headed by Mrs. Arabelle P. Hanna of Superior held its final meeting last month. The new committee will choose its own chairman.

A preliminary report of probable building needs at the Milford Trade School for the next 10 years was given by Supt. Lowell Welch. A more specific outline of needs will be prepared by Welch and a committee from the Department of Education.

"If we had better facilities at the school, the enrollment would soon grow," Welch told the board.

Chairman Morris Jacobs predicted that enrollment "would go beyond 1,000 in the next 10 years if facilities were made available."

The last Legislature asked the board to present a 10-year program for the school for informational purposes.

Grange Members Discuss Speech

Senator Lauds Relationship Of Doctors, VA Hospital Here

Sen. Carl Curtis said Tuesday Lincolnites should let "the people in Washington" know the fine job local doctors have done in helping the operation of the Lincoln Veterans Hospital.

Curtis, speaking at a Chamber of Commerce national affairs forum, said that the hospital has perhaps the finest working arrangement with local members of the medical profession.

Discussing the Air Base hospital problem, he said that with sufficient effort he believed sound hospital facilities for the base would be provided for by the next session of Congress.

Switching to state problems, he said, "Our farm problem must be divided into two parts—short range and long range."

Drought Blameless

The short range problem is the drought, he said.

"We must remember that the blame for the drought," he said, "cannot be placed on the particular type of price program we have."

Curtis expressed the belief that Nebraska will receive an atomic reactor plant.

"It is going to be very important, he said, "that Nebraska get in on the ground floor" because of what the by-products would mean to the state's economy.

In regard to national affairs, Curtis praised the President for his participation in the Geneva conference. The President, he said, "put his finger on the most important aspct of armament or disarmament in the world" through his proposal for air inspection of defenses.

Curtis singled out a former Nebraskan, Dr. Carl Frederick, for his role in helping obtain "more defense for the dollar."

Dr. Frederick, the senator said, was given the task of finding duplication in testing equipment for the Air Force. Through his studies, Curtis said, the Air Force has now reduced its list of standard equipment from 420 to 57 pieces.

If this can be done in all phases of the defense program, he said, inventories can be cut one-third.

In answer to a question regarding the resolution which he introduced asking for a joint committee study of the advantages of bringing atomic industries to the Missouri River Basin, Curtis said that the resolution, even if not formally adopted, will be a vehicle to focus attention on the area.

DELAPLANE'S POSTCARD

During the years I labored mightily for the dailies, bringing forth a daily mouse, I had large ambitions. The job I have always wanted is the Miss Lonelyhearts spot.

I read all the letters signed "Disgusted" or "One in a Million" or "Mother of Five." I read all the problems. Most problems are from women. They start quite early:

"Dear Miss Lonelyhearts, I am a girl of 15 but very mature for my age ...."

It is never too early to have problems.

☆ ☆ ☆

Well, what I was going to bring up is what they are doing out in Iowa. Dr. Emil Witschi and C. Y. Chang at the State University were sitting around one day cutting up scientific touches.

They decided that lady frogs could get along without gentlemen frogs. And after a good deal of interference, all the gentlemen frogs began croaking falsetto and having problems. Just like the lady frogs.

It seems to me a very horrid thing to do. Even to a frog. But scientists don't give a hoot. They just go around upsetting things. What they said was that this proved the human race could get along without men.

The whole human race would be nothing but women.

With all women and no men, I assume there would be no problems and no reason to write to the Lonelyhearts column.

This is a low blow to circulation, believe me. And if the journals do not get wise to what is going on, we could all easily drop a few thousand and the advertising rate structure would be in a terrible fix.

☆ ☆ ☆

I am against this for journalistic reasons. Mainly because I do not think a newspaper can publish without men making problems for women.

A good many of our best stories are about ladies who scrag their breadwinners. Why they did it and the attitude of the gentlemanly jury about the problem.

It is rare that a gentleman divorces a lady. And when he does it is with an infuriating reserve in the brief.

The doll may have let go at him with the old Winchester. She may have busted plates on his noggin and dipped in his tousers for the old payroll. But when he comes to court, he is polite as pie.

"It is a matter of incompatibility," he tells the Judge. The Judge, being a gent, then gives the lady a half interest in the man's future take and he is free to go out and try again.

Not so when ladies come to court. They make news.

"He beat me like a gong," she says. "He spent the weekly take on horses and a blonde mouse who works down by Minsky's. He refused to eat my cooking and he said my dear old mother was a beast. How I suffered!"

This makes wonderful reading. And I have seen circulation hop like a trick baseball under such needled reports.

You would not get that in a world of all women.

Women vs. women is mighty poor news. There is not much interest value in making the neighbor furious by getting a new mink. Or reading her out of the bridge club.

To make good reading you must have women vs. men. This makes problems and a lady solves her problem either by writing the lovelorn column or with an ice pick. Either way it improves the reading material. It gives us something to put around the ads.

This kind of science could be worse than the atom bomb.

Without men, who would buy the mink?

Without men, life would be placid. There would be nobody to divorce and no moving targets.

No room for my ambitions and my Lonelyhearts column. And come to think of it, no room for me. That I am against.

Naponee Residents Seek Continued Agency Service

FRANKLIN, Neb. (AP)—The State Railway Commission Tuesday took under advisement the Burlington Railroad's request for permission to discontinue agency service at Naponee.

Eight witnesses on behalf of Naponee interests—five farmers and three businessmen—told the commission this area has not had a representative corn crop in the last two or three years and hence has not shipped as much as usual.

Also contributing to smaller grain shipments has been the corn sealed under government loan, they said.

Witnesses suggested that as irrigation increases the size of the crop, and thus the amount of shipping, will increase.

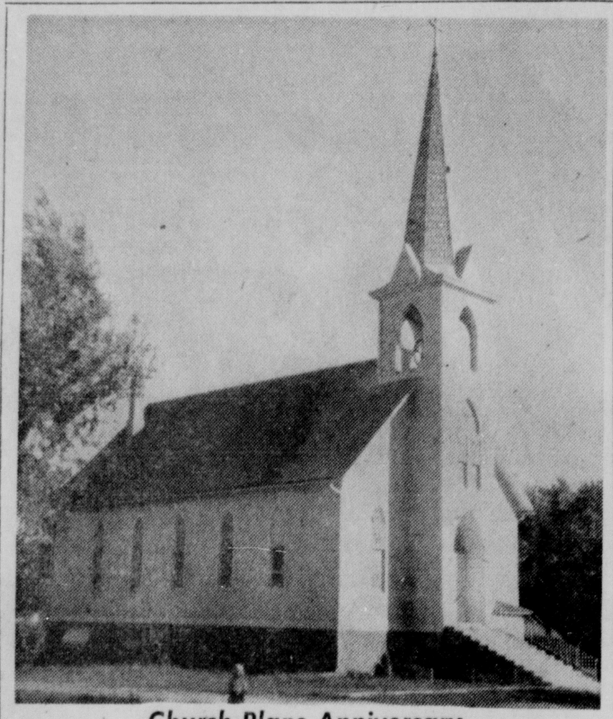

The Naponee witnesses stressed their interest in grain and livestock shipments but passed over the matter of passenger service.

Railroad witnesses had told the commissionrs that most of the hauling business at Naponee now is going to other carriers, and the only times the railroad is used is by the elevator and an occasional carload cattle shipment.

Commissioners Paul E. Pettygrove and Joseph J. Brown conducted the hearing.

Governmental Officials Heap Praise On Tri-County District

HASTINGS, Neb. (AP) — Nebraska's high governmental officials heaped praise on the Central Nebraska Tri-County Public Power and Irrigation District upon their return to Hastings from a tour of the project.

At a meeting with the Governmental Affairs Committee of the Hastings Chamber of Commerce, Senators Roman Hruska and Carl Curtis, Rep. Phil Weaver and Gov. Victor Anderson had generous words for the district's development and operation.

Hruska, after his first tour of the project, said he was "very impressed with the logic of the set-up and how it affects the economy of Nebraska as a whole."

Foresight Commended

Hruska said the district's officials and directors should be commended for their foresight in planning ahead for the state's power needs.

The governor pleaded "executive action" if the state's power producers do not act soon concerning the power situation.

Anderson predicted a crisis in power supply in three years, but asserted "the last thing I want to do is to call a special session of the Legislature at this time."

However, he added, "if the necessary co-operation of the various power groups is not forthcoming," he will be forced to take executive action.

Drought Damage Remains Unchanged

Wheat Output Increased To 25.4 Bu. Crop

By The Associated Press

The Department of Agriculture's Oct. 1 crop forecast indicated that the drought damage to Nebraska's corn has been pretty well measured—the estimate of a 15½ bushel per acre 104,160,000 bushel crop remaining unchanged from Sept. 1.

But in contrast to the disparaging report on corn the USDA, estimated Nebraska's wheat crop would run 25.4 bushels per acre and total 79,090,000 bushels.

This is about 270,000 bushels more than was forecast a month ago and presumably represents virtually the entire crop since the wheat harvest has long since been completed.

Beats 1954

It beats the 1954 crop of 61,200,000 bushels by some eight million bushels and tops the 10-year average by around three million bushels.

Only four times since the turn of the century has Nebraska turned up with so slim a corn crop as the one about to be put in the cribs. The drought years of 1934 and 1936 produced crops of 21,363,000 bushels and 26,859,000 bushels respectively. In 1939 the crop totaled 78,456,000 and in 1901 the total just barely tipped 100 million bushels.

This forecast represents the devastation created by hot dry weather which marked the last half of the summer. July 1, the corn crop had been forecast at 215,040,000 bushels more than twice as much as the crop now indicated.

Other Nebraska crops similarly showed the effect of the weather.

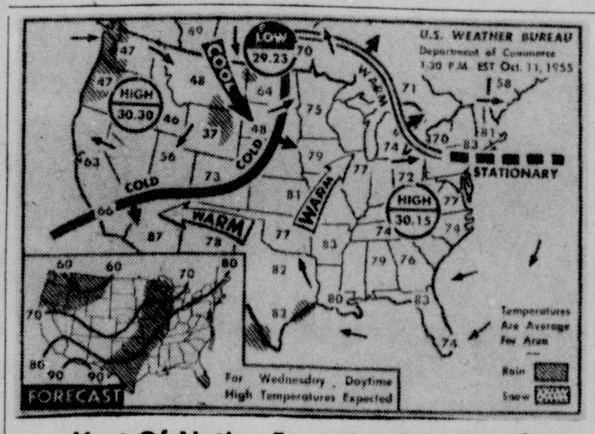

Soybeans for beans were forecast at 10 bushels per acre or 2,450,000 bushels, unchanged from Sept. 1. This was about the level of the 10-year average, but way below the 1954 production of 4,180,000 bushels.

National Figure Up

Meanwhile, the Agriculture Department for the nation as a whole estimated this year's corn crop at 3,117,739,000 bushels and the wheat crop at 915,528,000 bushels.

The corn figure is 4,272,000 bushels more than the department's September forecast.

The wheat estimate is 1,248,000 bushels less than last month's forecast of 916,776,000 bushels.

Most Of Nation Expecting Fair Weather

It will be fair and warmer Wednesday in the eastern third of the country except for scattered showers in Florida and a little cooler weather in New England. A narrow shower band is due in an area from southwestern Texas northeast to the upper Great Lakes. The rest of the country will have fair weather with cooler temperatures from the upper Mississipi valley southwest to eastern New Mexico. (AP Wirephoto Map)

Morrill, Brandon 4-H Youngsters Are Selected For Chicago Congress

Two Nebraska 4-H club members were awarded trips to the National Safety Congress, Oct. 16-21, in Chicago, Ill.

Lee Reed Morrill, son of Mr. and Mrs. Roland Reed, and Judy Ourada, Brandon, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. D. A. Ourada, were awarded the trips on the basis of farm and home safety work they have done as junior leaders in the 4-H clubs, announced Assistant State 4-H Club Leader Duane Loewenstein.

Lee is 17 years old and has been a 4-H club member since 1948. As part of his farm safety project he made a survey of all fires, auto and farm accidents in his locality. He then discussed with members of his club ways they might have been prevented. Lee also reported on personal injury accidents in his community, their causes and how they might have been prevented.

Judy is 15 years old and has completed six years in 4-H club work. In carrying out her safety project she sent safety questionnaires to all boxholders in her home town. She found and removed fire hazards in her home and community, she composed safety slogans, she collected accident clippings and made a display for a local store window.

Woman Dies In Car Crash

Lincoln Star Special

GRESHAM, Neb. — Funeral services for Mrs. Clifford Schultze, 34, Gresham, will be held at 2 p.m. Thursday at St. Peter's Lutheran Church here. She died in a Seward hospital of injuries received in an auto crash near Goehner about two weeks ago.

Seward County Sheriff Ray Welch said the car carrying Mrs. Schultze and five other persons, went out of control and overturned on a county road south of Goehner. Others in the car were Mr. Schultze, Mr. and Mrs. Alvin Zieme and Mr. and Mrs. Clifford Dittmar.

Mrs. Schultze is survived by her husband and three children, Sharon, Donald and Connie.

Her death brings the 1955 Nebraska road fatality toll to 234, compared to 246 at this time last year.

Panhandle Yields Top Northeast's

Northeast Nebraska, which usually produces the heaviest corn yields in the state, has taken a back seat this year to the Panhandle.

Dryland corn yields in the Panhandle are calculated to average about four bushels an acre better than the northeast this year, State-Federal Agricultural Statisician A. E. Anderson said Tuesday in comment on new crop estimates released in Washington.

The Panhandle has received a fair amount of moisture while the northeast was hard hit by drought this season.

Irrigated corn also turned out better in the Panhandle than most anywhere except in a portion of irrigated southeast Nebraska, Anderson said.

The corn picture changed in various Nebraska areas during September but the net result was no change, Anderson said.

The dryland crop improved slightly in the Panhandle, in north-central and eastern Nebraska but fell off in central, south central and southwest Nebraska, he noted.

Latest Estimate to Stand

Nothing has happened since Oct. 1 to change the outlook appreciably and the latest estimate, based on conditions Oct. 1, can be expected to stand up reasonably well except for some possible late adjustments, he indicated.

Referring to a drop in grain sorghum estimates from 10 bushels an acre on Sept. 1 to 8.5 bushels on Oct. 1, Anderson said drought hit the crop, it didn't head out properly and rains came too late to help.

News—Our Only Discovery

THIS was a great day for everybody but the Indians, back in 1492—For that matter Columbus Day still is a great day, but the only discoveries we've made this morning have to do with news—And the news involves some new names on the guest list—parties for a bride-elect—just parties—and this and that of interest around town.

* * *

BEFORE we add to the guest list we'll pass on the word that Samuel C. Waugh leaves today to return to Washington D. C., after spending a few days in Lincoln, where he was a speaker at the meeting of Nebraska bankers—And it isn't news, of course, that Mr. Waugh received an honorary degree at Doane College last Monday morning.

But on with the story—As we said, Mr. Waugh returns to Washington, but Mrs. Waugh plans to remain longer in Lincoln, and after today will be the house guest of Dr. and Mrs. J. M. Woodward.

* * *

THE new guests are Dr. and Mrs. Gayle Renfro and their daughter, Gay, who arrived on Tuesday afternoon from Santa Fe, N. M., to spend a few days as the house guests of Dr. Renfro's brother-in-law and sister, Mr. and Mrs. Dale Schilling.

At the week-end Dr. and Mrs. Renfro and their daughter will leave for Denver and Ft. Collins, Colo., where they will spend some time before returning to their home.

* * *

THE bride-elect we mentioned is Miss Phyllis Colbert whose marriage to Lt. Charles Hunley of Rulo will take place on Dec. 27.

On Friday of next week Miss Colbert will be complimented by Mrs. E. H. Hammond and Mrs. Knox Jones who will be breakfast hostesses at the home of Mrs. Hammond. Twenty-four guests have been invited for the 10:30 o'clock affair.

* * *

TOOK a quick look at the calendar for the weeks ahead and found that Mr. and Mrs. Howard Cather will entertain their dinner club at their home on Saturday evening, Oct. 22, when Mr. and Mrs. Robert Edgren will be the assisting host and hostess.

* * *

AND we found that the Patriarchs will have their first meeting of the season on Tuesday, Nov. 1, when the group will meet for dinner at the University Club—and will go on to the theater.

* * *

ON the list of potential homecomers are Dr. and Mrs. George Covey who are expected home early next week from a week's hunting in Wyoming.

* * *

SOMEONE told us that Miss Mary Helen Mallory will be aboard the Queen Mary when it docks in New York on Nov. 1. We're guessing that Miss Mallory, who has been traveling in Europe for the past seven weeks, will go straight from New York to Chicago, where she is careering—But we know for sure that she will come to Lincoln the week-end of Nov. 7, for a visit with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Mallory.

* * *

NEWS from the Crib Crowd this morning tells us that Dana Joan Wentz arrived at St. Elizabeth Hospital on Tuesday, Oct. 11. The baby is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Stanley Wentz, and her paternal grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Wentz of Lincoln. The maternal grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. William Grosskopf of Chaseburg, Wis.

* * *

LEARNED that Dr. and Mrs. Lewis Green of Madison, Wis., left on Wednesday to return to their home after spending three days as house guests of Dr. and Mrs. Fred Ferciot. Dr. and Mrs. Greene had accompanied Dr. and Mrs. Ferciot home from Oklahoma City where a medical meeting was held last week end.

Dr. and Mrs. Ferciot honored their guests at an informal 5 o'clock to 7 o'clock party on Tuesday evening when they entertained a small group of guests.

The Brides' Book Says:

Revealing plans this morning for an October wedding is Miss Darlene Lucille Meyer, who will become the bride of Norris Willmann of Hubbell on Sunday, Oct. 16. The 2:30 o'clock ceremony will be solemnized at Zion Lutheran Church near Harbine.

The maid of honor will be Miss Marilyn Holtmeyer, and Miss Meyer's bridesmaids will be Miss Valoris Meyer and Miss Virlene Mohling. Miss Debbie Huber will be the flower girl.

Lighting the chancel candles will be Miss Dee Huber and Miss Irma Holtmeyer of Harbine.

Arnold Peters will serve Mr. Willmann as best man, and seating the guests will be Orville Meyer of Ellis, and Orville Deeke of Hubbell.

Concluding the series of bridal courtesies honoring Miss Barbara Rae Bartlett will be the pre-nuptial dinner on Thursday evening for which Mr. and Mrs. Ray L. Bartlett will be host and hostess to their daughter and her fiance, Rodney Barker, at the Hotel Cornhusker.

The guest list will include only members of the family and bridal party and coming from out of town for the dinner, and to attend the wedding on Saturday evening, Oct. 15, will be Mr. and Mrs. Henry Schmidt of Norwalk, Calif., Mrs. John E. Batteen of Denver, and Miss Jeanine Geiger, Omaha.

Miss Suzanne Draper and her fiance, Donald T. Kahler, whose marriage will take place Friday evening, Oct. 14, will be honored Thursday at a late evening supper when Mr. and Mrs. H. Wayne Draper will entertain at their home in courtesy to their daughter and Mr. Kahler.

The supper will follow the wedding rehearsal at Bethany Christian Church, and guests will include members of the family as well as the bridal party.

A pre-nuptial courtesy honoring an October bride-elect was the dessert supper and theater party held Monday evening for Miss Marianne Sabatka by the members of Zeta Alpha Chapter of Epsilon Sigma Alpha. A one-gift shower was presented to the honoree during the supper, which was held at the Hotel Cornhusker.

Miss Sabatka's marriage to Henry J. St. Pierre of Beverly Farms, Mass., will be an event of Saturday, Oct. 22.

To Attend Convention

Leaving Tuesday morning for Houston, Tex., were Mrs. Carl E. Olson, Mrs. Thomas Green, Mrs. Lawrence Enersen and Mrs. Enersen's mother, Mrs. Ernest Vail of Weston, Mass., who will attend the annual convention of the National Association for Retarded Children to be held at the Rice Hotel Oct. 12 to 15.

Preceding the group to Houston on Monday was William R. Carriker, assistant director of the State Department of Special Education, who is attending meetings and pre-convention workshops.

Sixth Safe Burglary In Two Weeks Nets Robbers $1,300

Lincoln's sixth safe burglary in the past two weeks netted burglars close to $1,300 in cash from the Plith Loan Co. at 144 No. 48th.

The safe with its contents scattered about was found southwest of the State Penitentiary on a country road. The pin had been punched to gain entrance.

According to a police report, the Plith Company was broken into by springing the front door with a bar. The safe was hauled down three steps to the entrance of the building and hauled away in a car.

In Early Morning

Entrance to the building was made sometime between 1:05 a.m. and 3 a.m. A police cruiser car, the only one on the north side of the city during the night, checked the building both times and discovered the break-in on the second check.

Discovery of the burglary was made by Officers Art Aksamit and Virgil Campbell.

The safe was located after an unidentified man stopped Patrolman Richard Lichty on the street and told him he'd seen the safe on the country road.

Cash Insured

Kenneth Plith of the loan company said the stolen cash was insured. Bonds and non-negotiable checks taken in the safe were found near where the safe was picked up.

The burglaries during the past two weeks have yielded up more than $5,000.

Police reported the method of operation of all burglaries has been the same. Two men are believed involved in the work.

Previous burglaries have occurred at the Wilson Wholesale Beer Distributing Co., the Strauss Bros. Lumber Co., Hompes Tire Co., Paramount Laundry, and the Johnson Coal and Supply Co.

The burglars were routed from the supply company by an exploding teargas bomb.

89th Division Designated As Training Unit

WASHINGTON (AP) — The 89th Division, composed of reservists from Nebraska, Colorado and Kansas, has been designated as a training division under the Army's "change of mission" for 25 reserve divisions.

Secretary of the Army Wilber Brucker said that "only those reserve units that will be required in the early stages of mobilization are in the new Army reserve troop list."

Under the plan, begun early this year, 10 of the 25 divisions, have been designated combat units, which would be ready to fight within six months of the start of a war.

Twelve, including the 89th, have been assigned the primary mission of training replacements that would be needed in the early days of hostilities, and three have been redesignated as maneuver areas commands.

Here is a pleasant little game that will give you a message every day. It is a numerical puzzle designed to spell out your fortune. Count the letters in your first name. If the number of letters is 6 or more, subtract 4. If the number is less than 6, add three. The result is your key number. Start at the upper left-hand corner of the rectangle and check every one of your key numbers, left to right. Then read the message the letters under the checked figures give you.

Five Generations

FINCASTLE, Va. (AP)—John James Allen has on his office wall the law certificates of his great-great-grandfather, his great-grandfather, his grandfather, his father and himself. The oldest was made out in 1790 and the second in 1818. His great-grandfather's is especially interesting—he was president of the Virginia Supreme Court (1851-1865) and a Congressman. Grandfather got his certificate in 1854. Father was the only one not named John James Allen. He was William Ross Allen, licensed to practice in 1892. The present John James Allen got his certificate in 1932.

Late-To-Bed Pays Off

CHARLOTTE, Mich. (AP) — When 16-year-old Danny McClintock got home late from a dance he found the door locked but he didn't have a key. So he slept in the nearby barn. Later he was awakened by cattle kicking and found a wall aflame. He rushed to the house and summoned the fire department which put out the blaze with only $50 damage. Fred Hansen, who owned the barn, valued it and its contents at $20,000.

'Trader' Lane Had Busy Start

ST. LOUIS (AP) — Frank Lane, getting little sleep in his first week as general manager of the St. Louis club, is off to a busy start on the trade talks expected to change the face of the Cardinals. He has a big deal in mind.

He will take time out from his conference-studded schedule at 10 a.m. CST today to announce the 1956 manager of the club, and no one will be surprised unless it's someone other than Fred Hutchinson, former Detroit manager.

In less than four days as general manager, frantic Frankie had talked with officials of no less than five major league clubs in laying the foundation for possible player deals.

He and Gabe Paul, general manager of the Cincinnati Redlegs, wound up a 7-hour session here in the early morning hours. "We're very, very far apart on anything of an important nature," Lane said.

Might Trade Outfielder

Last Friday, when his appointment as general manager was announced, Lane mentioned Wally Moon and Bill Virdon as among players he had no thought of trading at the present time. But Tuesday he said he might deal off one of his young outfielders if the right kind of trade could be arranged.

"If we could help ourselves behind the plate, or in pitching, or at first base, we might deal one of our young outfielders," Lane said. "But we're not going to deal one of them for catching alone, say. We're not panic stricken about catchers."

Although most of Lane's daylight hours this week are taken up by the annual fall Cardinal organization meetings here, he has found time to run up a large long distance telephone bill.

Talked With Officials

He has talked with officials of Brooklyn, Philadelphia, Detroit and the Chicago Cubs, as well as with the Cincinnati general manager.

Despite persistent reports he already has decided on Hutchinson, manager of the Seattle club which won the 1955 Pacific Coast League pennant, as his field director, Lane still was calling the manager-selecting matter "an elimination series."

The official word on the manager won't come until today.

Four days ago Lane said Harry (The Hat) Walker, the current manager under whom the Cardinals finished seventh, and another man he refused to identify were still in the running with Hutchinson. The unnamed third party was believed to be Johnny Keane, manager of the Cardinal's Omaha farm club.

Lane expressed a desire for infielder Don Zimmer of Brooklyn before he paused and wondered aloud whether Ford Frick, the baseball commissioner, might construe such talk as a violation of the game's tampering rule.

"I wish Brooklyn would get real disappointed with Zimmer," Lane said, "and decide to send him down—all the way down to St. Louis."

Braves Sign Youngsters

MILWAUKEE (AP) — The Milwaukee Braves Tuesday anounced the signing of two young ballplayers for their Wellsville, N. Y., farm club in the Class D Pony League.

The players are Robert Stanton, 18, Long Island, N. Y., a second baseman, and John Brennan, 18, Staten Island, N. Y., a left-handed pitcher. Both will report to the Braves' Waycross, Ga., minor league camp next spring.

End Don Hewitt To Lead Huskers Against Pitt

By DON BRYANT
Sports Editor, The Star

Don Hewitt, senior end from Des Moines, Ia., will captain the University of Nebraska Cornhuskers against the Pittsburgh Panthers Saturday.

This was announced Tuesday by Coach Bill Glassford, who praised Hewitt's work for the past three years, called him a "good morale builder, and said he was sure "Hewitt will do a good job leading us at Pitt."

Tuesday the Huskers worked light again, with the practice period devoted to a review of defenses for Pitt, pass defense, offense and passing...

The only rough work came when the squad worked on pass and punt protection.

Since Nebraska is devoting quite a bit of time to its aerial game this week, there's a good chance the Huskers will rely heavily on this form of offense.

And since the passing game was stalled by Texas A&M's constant pressure on the passers, there's a lot of time being spent on pass protection.

Pittsburgh will be the heaviest team Nebraska meets all year—line 212, backs 181, team 201—and Glassford said Tuesday the Huskers "will have to pass to open them up."

Bill added, "And our success will depend on how well we protect our passer."

Only one lineup change is being considered at the present time, Glassford said, and that concerns the fullback spot. John Edwards of North Platte has started all but the Kansas State game, but George Cifra of Turtle Creek, Pa., played most of the K-State game and performed well against the Aggies.

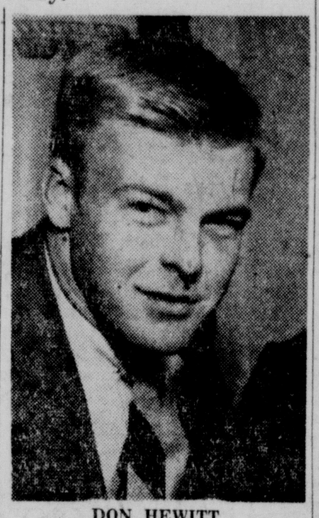

"We may turn George loose against Pitt and let him run wild in front of his kin-folks," Bill cracked...

Nyden To Ames

Frosh Coach Ed Nyden will scout Missouri, Nebraska's next opponent, at Ames, Ia., against the Iowa State Cyclones Saturday.

Mink Injured

End George Mink will be out of action for an indefinite time because of a torn muscle, Glassford said Tuesday. He's the only Husker who's slated to miss the Pitt fray.

DON HEWITT

Tackle Jack Fleming didn't work Tuesday, but he'll be ready Saturday, Bill said.

BETTY WHITE

Rassle Royal Slated Here

Promoter Adam Krieger has lined up something different for Lincoln rassle fans for the Fairgrounds Arena show Monday night.

As part of a double main event, Krieger will present five girl rasslers in a Rassle Royal, with all five lassies in the ring at the same time.

The girls are Kathleen Wimbley, Columbus, O.; Louise Green, Youngstown, O.; Ethel Johnson, Atlanta, Ga.; Babs Wingo, New Orleans, and Betty White, Columbus, O.

The other half of the main event will match Bob Orton, Monday night winner over Mr. Moto, against an opponent yet to be found by Krieger. That match will be a 2-of-3 falls affair.

In the Rassle Royal, the first girl to lose a fall will come back later for a one-fall match. And the two survivors of the battle, will also return for a two-girl match.

The mat show will begin at 8 p.m.

Binghamton, N. Y., led the Eastern League baseball teams in attendance during 1955 with 89,529 home fans. It was an increase of 40,308 over 1954.

Hard Runners Tops In Offense

Luppino, Swink Leading Field On Rushing Alone

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Two young men whose football talents are confined to tucking the ball under an arm and running over all obstacles toward the goal lines are running one-two among the major college total offense leaders.

They are defending rushing champion Art Luppino, who went to Arizona as a baseball player but can't throw due to a football injury, and dashing Jim Swink of Texas Christian.

What's more, it's the first time in the 20 years major college statistics have been officially kept that a runner has topped the total offense list at this stage. No player ever has won the offense title by rushing alone.

NCAA Service Bureau statistics released Tuesday show Luppino has picked up 529 yards on 89 rushes in four games. Swink has carried 54 times for 484 yards to take second by a 4-yard margin over Columbia's Claude Benham, who gains most of his yards by passing.

Naturally, Luppino and Swink are first and second in rushing with Fob James of Auburn third with 360 yards. In addition, Swink is the leading major college scorer with 62 points on 10 touchdowns and 2 conversions and Luppino is third with 43, one behind Jon Arnett of Southern California.

Passing isn't a lost art in the Southwest, however, for sophomore Joe Clements of Texas tops a forward-passing list on which eight of the top 10 performers play East of the Mississippi.

Clements and Nick Consoles of Wake Forest have completed 39 passes apiece. But the Texan has tried one less, 62 to 63. Clements also has gained more ground by passing, 452 yards, and ranks sixth in total offense with a net gain of 437 yards.

Clements, the passing leader two weeks ago, dropped to seventh because of an injury, then came back by completing 17 of 31 tosses for 153 yards against Oklahoma. Consoles made 14 of 23 for 126 yards against undefeated Maryland.

One of the most remarkable passing records belongs to Wisconsin's Jim Haluska, the only .700 pitcher. Haluska threw 14 strikes of 18 pitches against Purdue and now has a .757 completion average on 28 out of 37 tries. Three have been intercepted, leaving only six incomplete.

Third-place Benham has fired 75 passes, the high total, has completed 35 and has had 8 intercepted, another high. Denver's Jimmy Bowen has thrown 34 times without an interception. Dick Young of Georgia and Bob Hardy of Kentucky have tossed five touchdown passes each.

Missouri Underrated, Says Cyclone Coach

AMES, Ia. (AP) — Coach Vince DiFrancesca told his Iowa State football team Tuesday that Missouri, which meets the Cyclones in a Big Seven encounter here Saturday, "has been highly underrated this year."

DiFrancesca said he plans to concentrate heavily on defense against the passing of Dave Doane and Jimmy Hunter, Missouri's outstanding throwers.

The Cyclones went through a heavy workout Tuesday but the Coach said he probably will ease up on his men during the rest of the week.

Shakeup At Pitt

PITTSBURGH (AP) — Coach Johnny Michelosen threatened Tuesday to shake up the Pitt football lineup for Saturday's game against Nebraska here.

Michelosen named no names, but made it plain he is unhappy about the team's showing in the 21-0 loss to Navy last Saturday. Last season, Coach Tom Hamilton started the Pitt second team against the Cornhuskers at Lincoln. The Panthers won that one 21-7, with the second stringers scoring a pair of touchdowns.

Michelosen declined to say whether he might imitate the 1954 strategy, or is thinking of some replacements on the current first team.

A's Add Farm Club

KANSAS CITY (AP) — The Kansas City Athletics announced Tuesday they have signed a full working agreement with Crowley, La., a Class C team in the Evangeline League.

Amateurs Forsaken By Trabert

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Tony Trabert, regarded by many as the world's top tennis amateur, succumbed Tuesday to an offer of professional riches from Promoter Jack Kramer.

Kramer's coup in getting the U. S. and Wimbledon titlist's signature on a contract paves the way for what will doubtless be the biggest raid on amateur net ranks in history.

For big Jack, one-time king of the amateurs himself, is confident that Australan stars Lew Hoad and Ken Rosewall, conquerors in Davis Cup play, will follow Trabert into his fold.

Trabert, Hoad and Rosewall, with Kramer rounding out the foursome, may make a tour of the United States, Australia and Europe late this fall or early in the winter.

Breaking Domination

If he nets the Aussies, Kramer will have thrown the Davis Cup race for next year wide open. Experienced European teams for the first time since 1936 are given a strong chance of breaking the domination of Americe and Australia in cup play.

The signing of Trabert ended weeks of speculation over whether he would turn pro. Terms of the deal were not disclosed. But Kramer said he will get more than the $7,000 that Australia's Frank Sedgman did when he forsook the amateurs to play with Jack.

Publicity over the Sedgman terms "cost me," Kramer said, as Trabert, knowing of the figure, asked for more. "From now on," Kramer added, "I'm playing it like they do in baseball. Let there be speculation only."

Conflicting Reports

Reports have it that Hoad and Rosewall are being offered $50,000 each. There have been conflicting reports on whether they will sign, but Kramer and others close to negotiations says it's in the bag.

The quartet of Kramer, Trabert, Hoad and Rosewall should make the most powerful group of professional players ever assembled. There is little to choose between the Aussies and Trabert, and Kramer, although not very active lately, is expected to round into the form that made him unconquerable for years.

Another Catlin Or Burris?

Sooner Fans High On Linebacker Tubbs

By LARRY FRIEDMAN

NORMAN, Okla. (AP) — Jerry Tubbs, bulwark of Oklahoma's stout defense, has started tongues wagging.

Does the 6-2, 205-pound slashing linebacker from Breckenridge, Tex., rate with Tom Catlin and Kurt Burris, two former Sooners who hold a special niche in the affections of the football-rabid fans of this Southwest area?

The question was put to Bud Wilkinson, Oklahoma's head coach. He grinned, obviously happy about the 20-year-old junior who's being likened to Catlin and Burris.

"Tubbs played well for us Saturday against Texas," said Wilkinson, a master at understatement when dishing out praise for his players.

Tubbs, who led the Breckenridge, Tex., high school to a Texas State title against Temple in 1951 and 1952, made the home folks moan about a "lost" son Saturday in the Cotton Bowl. It's doubtful that Catlin or Burris ever played a finer game.

From his roving linebacker slot, Tubbs plucked off three Texas passes that broke the back of the Steers' offense and paved the way for Oklahoma's 20-0 victory, its 22nd straight. He made about 20 jarring tackles, and jarring was the only way to describe them.

Tubbs' devastating play against Texas brought back memories of Catlin and Burris.

Catlin was a star at Oklahoma in 1951-52 and then went to the Cleveland Browns where he was the anchor man on the Browns' NFL championship elevens before entering the Army. Burris was an All-American last year and is now playing in Canada.

An assistant coach at Oklahoma didn't mince any words in describing Tubbs, an economics major. "He's one of the best linebackers in college football. Maybe, THE best."

Ted Youngling said Tubbs has the right attitude toward football. "He sees no reason why he can't make every tackle." Tubbs has good speed for a man his size and pursues well on defense.

Buffs Try New Backfield To Develop Scoring Punch

BOULDER, Colo. (AP) — Coach Dal Ward tried out a brand new backfield combination Tuesday in an effort to rejuvenate Colorado's offense against Kansas State in a Big Seven game at Manhattan Saturday.

Stransky, a soph, is subbing for Homer Jenkins, tailback star who is sidelined by a bad charley horse. He looked good last Saturday when the second backfield drove to what proved to be Colorado's winning touchdown at Oregon.

Lamont replaces Sam Maphis, who had a bad day against Oregon, and Wilson was being shifted from his normal right half spot. Another change as the Buffs went through a hard scrimmage as the appearance of Tom Giek at left guard in place of Dick Stapp.

Sooner Offense Worries Kansas

LAWRENCE, Kan. (AP)—The Kansas Jayhawks devoted their full practice session to the defensive setup they plan to use against the powerful Oklahoma Sooners at Norman Saturday.

Two players who were considered likely starters against the Sooners — halfback Ralph Moody and tackle Gene Blasi — both were kept out of contact work because of minor ailments. Moody, who sparked Kansas in a late drive that brought the Hawkers a 7-7 tie with Iowa State last Saturday, has a sore shoulder. Blasi has a charley horse.

Tigers Stress Defense

COLUMBIA (AP) — The Missouri Tigers worked on fundamentals Tuesday with emphasis on defense defects they showed in their 6-13 loss to Southern Methodist last Friday.

Coach Don Faurot said it was likely the Tigers would have to continue to get along without the service of Jimmy Hunter, quarterback, and Halfback Sonny Springer, both injured in the season opener with Maryland.

Hunter and Springer both returned to heavy pads Monday, but Faurot said they were far from playing condition.

Chiefs Sign New Pitcher

Southpaw Don Rowe, strike-out leader in the Big State League the past season, was purchased from the Waco, Tex., club Tuesday by the Lincoln Chiefs.

Only 19, Rowe struck out 218 batters in 238 innings of work and finished the 1955 campaign with a 12-17 record for the Class B Pittsburgh affiliate. Rowe's record also shows 237 hits and 134 walks over the past year.

As a rookie in 1954, the Lincoln newcomer had an 18-3 record for Phoenix of the Class C Arizona-Mexico League. In 29 games he worked 182 innings and whiffed 161.

Rowe stands 6 feet and weighs 180.

Arrested Bookie Exposes Big Ring

LOS ANGELES (AP) — A million dollar West Coast football bookmaking ring was exposed with the arrest of an ex-convict, police reported Tuesday.

Albert Gruenberg, 56, alias Jack Green, was nabbed last night at Los Felix Blvd. and Riverside Dr. Intelligence squad officers said they found in Gruenberg's car more than 30,000 football pool tickets. Detectives said that Gruenberg, booked on suspicion of bookmaking, admitted being the "biggest football bookie" on the West Coast. They estimated the take in Los Angeles alone at $50,000 a week.

Gruenberg told officers the pool was based on odds set in Milwaukee and distributed to bookmakers throughout the nation.

Intelligence squad officers said Gruenberg was identified as the former general manager of the now defunct Continental Wire Service, which handled race results.

Comments from here and there:

Murray Warmath, Minnesota coach, on quarterbacking from the bench—"It's illegal to be sure, but show me a coach who can't get word to his quarterback when an important decision is to be made. They all do it. Show me a sport where the coach or manager can't talk to his players when he finds it necessary. Why discriminate against football?"

Mizell

Answer—Why worry? There are few penalties in this department and it gives the coach an easy out.

John Cronley, Daily Oklahoman scribe, on Sooner football—"If the Big Red lacks up its third in a row (it did, 20-0) only the Colorado game in Norman on October 22 will loom as a serious barrier enroute to an undefeated season and return to the Orange Bowl."

Answer—Right you are John, and it's doubtful the Buffs will force a cancellation of Miami hotel reservations.

George Weiss, New York Yankee general manager, on 1956—"The series revealed some weaknesses in our structure, and we will have to repair them before the opening of the 1956 season ... we must have three new men, at least ... a solid pitcher, a solid outfielder ... a hustling mobile, hitting shortstop."

Answer—Yes, George, and we'll bet you get them.

Red Sanders, UCLA coach, on renewing relations with Maryland—"I hope we never see them again, on a wet or dry field."

Answer—Paul Bryant, Texas A&M coach, expressed the same feeling when asked how he'd like to play UCLA again. "I saw enough of them," he grinned.

Joe Collins, New York Yankee, on his two homers in the first game of the World Series—"I changed my stance in mid-season when I went into a slump, but shucks, I've been in a slump all my life."

Answer—Joe was referring to his .234 average. But averages don't mean much in the Series. Yogi Berra hit .272 in the regular season and .417 in the Series; Bob Cerv hit .341 for the year and .125 in the Series.

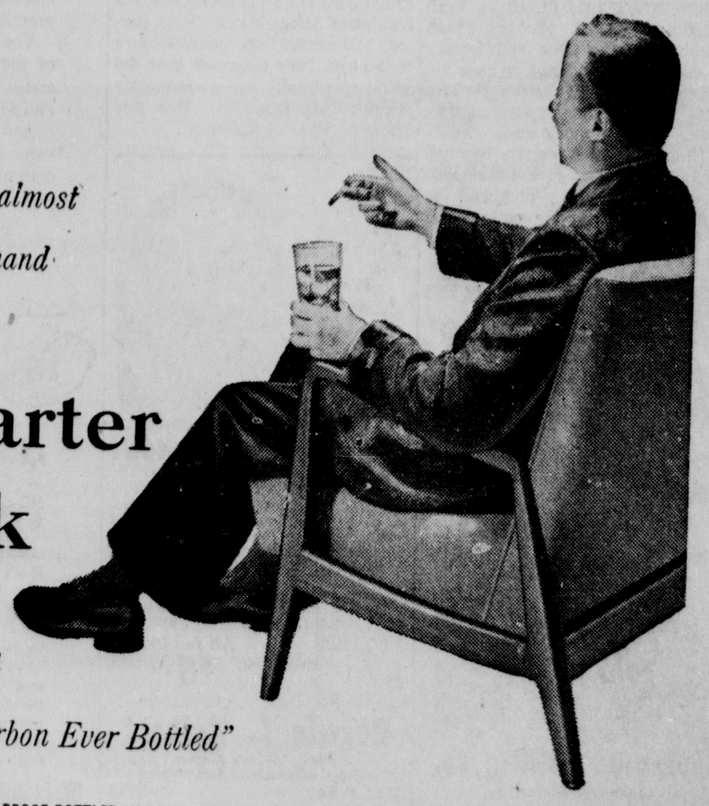

Nebraska football fan, leaving Memorial Stadium after Texas A&M game—"The bands were as great as ever, but driving 150 miles and $3.50 a seat is pretty high-priced for a band concert."

Answer—Nuff said.

Vinegar Bend Mizell, St. Louis pitcher just out of the Army, on his future—"I think I finally got to the point where I can throw a curve over the plate if I want to."

Answer—The Cards will be glad to hear this, and it should keep Mizell in Frank Lane's good graces.

Ring Probe Is Opposed By Helfand

By JACK HAND

NEW YORK (AP) — Julius Helfand, chairman of the New York State Athletic Commission, Tuesday opposed federal investigation of boxing and called upon the "working commissions" of the nation to co-operate instead of "trying to steal important fights."

Helfand, who has served nine months as New York chairman, reported on the status of boxing at a meeting of the Boxing Writers Assn.

"I said when I took office that if I destroyed boxing, I would have accomplished nothing," he said. "I feel the same now even more so. We are striving to improve boxing, to see that we are conducting clean boxing in this state to the best of our ablity. In the final analysis, it is up to the promoters and managers. I am merely an administrator."

Denied Printed Reports

Helfand, a Democrat, took advantage of the occasion to deny printed reports that he had toned down his investigation of the sport.

"No one has called me off," he said. "No one has spoken to me—no politician or anyone else—indicating any dissatisfaction with what is being done or asked me to call off the investigation. No one (the governor or anyone in my party) ever asked me what I was doing except to say I was doing a good job."

Answering criticism that the investigations have been "bad for boxing," Helfand insisted the inquiry has been a "good thing" because it alerted the public and boxing people to realize that the commission intended to "keep boxing on a clean, honest plane."

Came Out Flatly

Helfand came out flatly against any federal investigation and said he would be willing to list his reasons if called to appear before any government group.

"I do not feel the U.S. government should be wasting its time investigating boxing," he said. "The sport can be properly controlled provided the working commissions (and I mean commissions that actually function and do not merely exist on paper) honestly administer and control it, instead of trying to steal important fights and trying to break down rulings."

Continued Hearings

Helfand said his hearings will continue Oct. 21 when the cases of three suspended managers will be heard. The managers are Bobby Melnick, Cus D'Amato and Bobby Nelson. He also said the case of Bill Daly, also suspended for failure to testify about affairs of the International Boxing Guild (managers) would be held "very soon." He refused to talk about Daly's new 5-year contract to manage Vince Martinez on the grounds that it would be "injudicious" to discuss a case that still is pending before the commssion.

The chairman went out of his way to encourage promoters to start new small clubs in the state, offering every consideration, including reduction of officials and lower fees. He also said Governor Harriman and he had held preliminary discussions about opening the armories to boxing.

Calgary Footballer Fired For 'Spying'

CALGARY (AP) — The Calgary Stampeders of the Western Football Conference have fired guard Dean Bandiera on the grounds that he supplied information to the enemy Winnipeg Blue Bombers.

The charge is that Bandiera disclosed some of his team's plans Saturday night before Winnipeg beat Calgary 13-12.

While a former Stampeder President Don McLaws charged Bandiera was guilty of conduct detrimental to football, President Jack Rowand of the Western Interprovincial Football Union said it boiled down to a slip of tongue by Bandiera in the presence of his old Winnipeg buddies.

Leonard Named

SPRINGFIELD, Ill. (AP) — Emil (Dutch) Leonard, pitching coach of the Chicago Cubs and former major league hurler, has been appointed to the recreation staff of the Illinois Youth Commission, Gov. Stratton announced.

Leonard will promote baseball activities as part of the statewide juvenile delinquency program. He will remain with the commission until March 1 when he will rejoin the Cubs.

Football Player Dies Of Injuries

DANVILLE, Va. (AP)—Max Campbell, 18-year-old high school student, died Tuesday of injuries received in football scrimmage Sept. 8.

Death came as students and adult committeemen were completing plans for a "Max Campbell Week" next week to raise funds to meet soaring hospital and medical bills.

The boy had been hospitalized with a broken neck and severed spinal cord since his injury. Only a few hours before his death his parents had agreed to public disclosure of a physician's diagnosis that the youth was totally and permanently paralyzed in the arms, legs and lower portions of the body.

Chadwick Sets One-Way Record

CALAIS, France (AP) — Florence Chadwich completed her Britain-to-France crossing of the English Channel early Wednesday, but abandoned her plans for an immediate return trip to the frigid water.

Miss Chadwick's time was 14 hours and 9 minutes, breaking her own women's record by 12 minutes. It also was only three minutes short of the all-time England-France mark set this year by Bill Pickering of England.

They Cheer For The Warriors

These Midland College cheerleaders will have more than the football team to cheer about Saturday at Midland's 41st homecoming program. Three of them have been selected as candidates for the 1955 Grid Queen honors. They are Suzanne Brooks, Fremont senior; Rosalie Keiser, Hildreth junior, and Barbara Anderson, Saline, Kan., sophomore. The cheerleaders (clock-wise) are Miss Anderson; Phyllis Larson, Colon; Carolyn Kriebel, Tekamah; Miss Keiser, Miss Brooks, and Nan Owens, Alliance (front).

Buffalo Citizens Buy Team From Detroit At Half Price

BUFFALO, N. Y. (AP) — A price cut and a $70,000 loan from a group of local businessmen Tuesday kept International League baseball in Buffalo with a "citizens' company" buying the local franchise from the Detroit Tigers.

The local group, headed by John Stiglmeier and Harry Bisgeier, will pick up the option they had to purchase for the Triple A franchise, but at a price of $75,000—half the original figure.

About $75,000 in cash was raised by public stock subscription. The loan will be used to finance team operations through next season.

Wade Stevenson, local industrialist and chairman of an informal committee of businessmen that raised the loan money, emphasized that the money was exactly that—a loan. He declared:

"The men who put up the money do not become owners of the baseball club. To them, it is an investment in their community. They want a community - owned ball club. The sale of stock in the club will continue until the loan is repaid. The small investor still is the important power behind this team."

Sale Announced

Johnny McHale, farm director of the Tigers, met with the local groups Tuesday and announced the sale of the franchise which the Tigers acquired two years ago.

The deal includes the contracts of a nucleus of players, the club equipment and the additional help of three or four optioned players from Detroit next season.

Players Join Rebels

MONTGOMERY, Ala. (AP) — Kentucky's quarterback Bob Hardy and end Bob Schnellenberger along with Arthur Davis, Mississippi State halfback, have signed with the South for the annual Blue-Gray football game here Dec. 31. They are the first player choices of the Rebel coaching staff to be announced.

Ferguson Outruns 'The Horse'

By CHARLES CAPALDO

GREEN BAY, Wis. (AP)—A year ago fullback Howie Ferguson of the Green Bay Packers was worried about his status with the club. At the time the Packers were thinking of drafting Alan (The Horse) Ameche, Wisconsin's All-America.

"I know Ameche is real good," Ferguson said during a flight home from Los Angeles after the final game of the '54 season. "But I'll certainly do my best to beat him out of a job."

The Colts snapped up Ameche before the Packers' turn came up in the draw, clearing the field for Ferguson, the bulldozer from the bayous who never played college ball.

Now, a year later, Packer Coach Liz Blackbourn rates Howie as one of the best fullbacks in the National Football League and more than one enemy scout has tabbed him as the most improved player in the pro circuit.

Increasing Confidence

The changeover from worrying about his future to ever-increasing confidence in his ability didn't come easy for Howie.

The 25-year-old product of New Iberia, La. played fullback for the Navy's Phibpac team of San Diego in 1948, 1949 and part of 1950.

The Los Angeles Rams spotted the 6-2, 210-pound wheelhorse and signed him in 1952 after he was discharged. They used Ferguson in the All-Star game that year but, with Tank Younger and Dan Towler around, released Fergy before the first regular season game.

Howie went back to Louisiana and worked in the oil fields until 1953 when the Packers picked him up as a free agent.

The quiet spoken, curly haired back played behind Fred Cone that year and then started coming into his own last season, gaining 276 yards on 83 carries and another 398 yards on 41 pass catches.

Comiskey To Run White Sox Show?

CHICAGO (AP) — A five-player deal between the Chicago White Sox and their Memphis affiliate in the Southern Assn. Tuesday marked the club's first transaction since Frank Lane quit as Sox general manager.

Vice President Chuck Comiskey announced that left-handed pitcher Bob Cain and an undisclosed sum of cash went to Memphis for four young right-handed pitchers.

These include Jerome (Joe) Dahlke, 25, a 19-game winner as a Memphis reliefer; Bill Dufor, 25, who had an 11-9 Memphis mark; Paul Stuffell, 27, (12-3 at Memphis), and Russ Heman, on option last season to Waterloo of the Class B Three I League (8-8).

Cain had been assigned to Memphis by the Sox last season.

Comiskey, whose differences with Lane prompted the general manager to quit and move to the St. Louis Cardinals, has not indicated he will name another general manager.

Oklahoma Holds Rugged Workout

NORMAN, Okla. (AP) — Oklahoma footballers spent a two-hour workout Tuesday on everything in the book, from fundamentals to wind sprints.

Part of the practice in preparation for Saturday's opening Big Seven game here against Kansas was concerned with new plays. There also was a dummy scrimmage and an extensive pass defense drill.

Trainers announced that the stitches in Jimmy Harris' left paim have been removed and his hand is as sound as ever. Harris started against Texas despite the injury, suffered in the Pitt game the week before.

They also expressed belief tackles Cal Woodworth and Eldon Loughridge, end John Bell and halfback Bob Burris would be able to start against Kansas. They have bruised shoulders.

'Tiger' Jones, Andrews Tangle In Bout Tonight

MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — Two free-mxing middleweights, Ralph "Tiger" Jones and Al Andrews, will provide this week's action for Wednesday night television fight fans.

Jones, No. 7 contender in the division, is an 8-5 favorite. The bout will be televised from Miami's Dinner Key Auditorium (ABC) starting at 8 p.m. CST.

When they wound up sparring drills Monday, Jones weighed 156 and Andrews scaled 161.

Jones, who has never been knocked off his feet in 53 fights, has been enjoying a good year after losing five in a row in 1954. He opened the year with a win over Sugar Ray Robinson and also has beaten Chris Christensen, Ernie Durando and George Johnson. His two losses this year were to middleweight champion Bobo Olson and Eduardo Lausse.

His record includes 36 victories, 14 losses and 3 draws.

Andrews has won only three fights this year while losing decisions to Gene Fullmer, Gene Lindscott, Del Flanagan, Willie Pastrano and Joey Giardello. In his career, he has won 40 fights, lost 14 and drew twice. He has never been stopped.

The fight will be judged on a point basis, with 10 points going to the winner of each round and nine or less to the loser.

Brennan Says Irish Defense To Be Changed

By JERRY LISKA

CHICAGO (AP) — Unbeaten Notre Dame's Terry Brennan worried Tuesday over "complete defensive changes" his Irish must make for tough Michigan State at East Lansing, Mich., Saturday.

Brennan, by telephone from South Bend, Ind., told the weekly meeting of the Chicago football writers that, except for a few bad breaks against Michigan, the nation's No. 1 team, Michigan State could be undefeated right now.

Michigan State's Spartans own a 2-1 record, losing to Michigan 14-7 between a 20-13 victory over Indiana and last Saturday's 38-14 thumping of Stanford.

Brennan's concern over defensive preparations stems from the fact the Irish scored their three straight triumphs thus far against foes using T or split-T formations, Southern Methodist, Indiana and Miami of Florida.

Week's Big Job

"One of our big jobs this week will be to defense against the multiple offense of Michigan State which includes a good many single-wing formations," Brennan sad.

"You can't make many defensive mistakes against a team which has Michigan State's great speed."

Brennan declined to let this enthusiasm over his Irish boil over as he attributed their success to a "lot of breaks."

The 27-year-old coach said Notre Dame's line, tabbed an uncertain quantity before the season, "is doing better than I thought it would do. We're happy the line is playing well, but no coach ever should be completely satisfied."

Pitched Touchdown Passes

Quarterback Paul Hornung, who pitched the two touchdown passes for Notre Dame's 14-0 victory over Miami Friday night, also was described by Brennan as "doing well, but open for improvement in a lot of things."

Coach Lou Saban of buffeted Northwestern said his winless Wildcat players "have a feeling they can beat Michigan this Saturday."

"We know we're playing the best in the country," Saban continued, "and we'll play our best to beat them. Our kids still have good spirit and the squad morale is good.

Another Advantage

"Psychologically, this is a good time to play Michigan after its prized victory over Army. If Ron Kramer is out, as they say, that's another advantage for us."

Coach Stu Holcomb of Purdue said Len Dawson's throwing was hampered by his bandaged thumb Saturday, but that Wisconsin showed a "fine, well-rounded" team in beating Purdue, 9-0.

Holcomb said the Boilermakers would be at full strength for Saturday's invasion of Iowa. Illinois publicitor Chuck Flynn said Illini success aganst Minnesota Saturday will hinge upon line play. Flynn said in last weekend's 27-13 loss to Ohio State the Illini "made every error in the book."

Yanks Bolster Mound Strength

NEW YORK (AP) — New York's Yankees, American League pennant winners, purchased the contracts of three farm hands Tuesday and ordered the rookies to report for spring training at St. Petersburg, Fla., next March.

Two of the newcomers are pitchers, Jim Coates and Jim O'Reilly, and the third is Jerry Lumppe, a left-handed hitting shortstop with Birmingham of the Southern Assn., in 1955.

Lumppe hit .301 for the Barons and was voted the best prospect in the circuit by Southern Assn., baseball writers.

Coates, a righthander, won 13 and lost 8 with Binghamton in the Eastern League last season and fanned 186 batsmen in the same number of innings. O'Reilly was with Lumppe at Birmingham and posted an 8-8 record. He is a southpaw and fanned 111 and walked 66 in 141 innings.

It will be the last race of the year for Nashua, who will rest at his Belair Stud farm in Maryland before going to Hialeah for racing this coming winter.

Hunting Survey Scheduled This Season

Hunter tally cards are being sent out to over 7,000 Nebraska resident hunters. At the end of the hunting season these hunters will be sent questionaires on their success for both upland game and waterfowl hunting.

This hunter success survey is made with the co-operation of the U.S. Fish and Wildlife Service. The 7,000 hunters, selected at random, will provide information that will give an accurate sample of all of the hunters success during the 1955 seasons.

Similar surveys are being carried out in states all over the nation. Besides giving needed information for the management of waterfowl, the individual states receive valuable information for management of their own local wildlife species.

Morehead Coach Quits After Long Dry Spell

MOREHEAD, Ky., (AP) — Wilbur (Shorty) Jamerson, whose football teams have gone two and a half seasons without victory, resigned Tuesday as head coach at Morehead State College.

Dr. Adron Doran, college president, said Jamerson would remain as coach until the end of the current football season. Morehead's Eagles have lost 27 straight games. The team has five more contests before completing this season.

Cities, Highway Dept. Must Work Together, Says Ress

NORFOLK, Neb. (AP) — The State Highway Department and the communities must achieve a great deal of understanding in order to bring highway dreams to reality, State Engineer L. N. Ress declared here Tuesday.

Ress addressed a luncheon meeting of the Norfolk Rotary Club.

"More than we realize depends on our roads: Our standard of living, our whole economy, our very lives are dependent on our roads," he declared.

Who Pays?

"How we meet this crisis is dependent on how we answer this one question: Who pays the bill?" Ress continues.

"This question is being answered by legislatures in all 48 states and by the federal government. Sometimes the answers are not as correct as they might be, but a great effort is being made to find the right ones.

"I'm optimistic about the future of Nebraska's roads. I know that Nebraskans will find the right answer to the road problem. Some day we will be very proud of every mile of our highway system," he concluded.

Discussing Norfolk's specific problems, Ress said the additional width needed to enable Norfolk avenue to carry four lanes of traffic will be achieved through changing the parking angle from 45 degrees to 30 degrees. At the same time the parking stalls will be widened.

Fewer stalls will be available, Ress said. But the ease with which traffic will flow will more than compensate for this loss, he declared.

Dr. Miller To Tour Overseas High Schools

Dr. Floyd A. Miller of the Nebraska Department of Education will leave Wednesday for Washington, D.C., prior to an inspection trip of overseas American dependent high schools for the North Central Association.

Dr. Miller

Dr. Miller will be accompanied by George Beck, Duluth, Minn., high school principal.

They will inspect schools in Newfoundland, England, France, Germany, Italy, Spain, Turkey, Libya, French Morocco and the Azores.

34 Schools

Dependent Schools are schools established by the Armed Forces for children of military personnel. Thirty-four are in existence, 21 in Europe, 11 in the Far East and two in Puerto Rico.

The schools, which have been accredited since 1947 by the association, are visited every two years by association representatives. They are evaluated at the request of the Armed Forces to guarantee adequate educational facilities for dependents of military personnel.

Dr. Miller, who is assistant commissioner of the Division of Supervision, will take an approximate two months leave of absence from his present post. He is chairman of the secondary commission of the North Central Association.

New Egg-Grading Law Works Well

The new state egg-grading law which became effective Sept. 18 is going into operation smoothly and with very little non-compliance, Agriculture Director Ed Hoyt reported Tuesday.

The law provides that all eggs sold at retail must be of "B" grade or better, and all eggs for sale must be kept at a temperature no higher than 60 degrees.

Gould Flagg, chief of the food inspection division, said handlers were told last spring to the fact the law would be going into effect in September.

Three inspectors have been assigned to check compliance with the new egg law. They are Wyatt Cannady, York; Henry Rempel, Jansen; and Ray Sharples, Oakdale.

'Artificial Moon'—

AF Rockets To Probe Secrets Of Dawn, Dusk

ALAMOGORDO, N. M. (AP) — Air Force scientists Wednesday night will hurtle a rocket 40 to 70 miles above earth to probe secrets of dawn and dusk.

An Aerobee rocket — providing weather conditions are near perfect — is to smash from the earth into the upper atmosphere at approximately 20 minutes after sunset loaded with a mechanism which artifically releases metallc sodium to glow in the upper atmosphere.

What is planned was first billed as the widely publicized artifical moon experment.

No Such Thing

The Air Force says the experiment is no such thing. In technical language the firing from nearby Holloman Air Development Center is "not designed to produce the appearance of a large cloud covering a great part of the sky nor an artificial moon." What it will do, no one knows.

"The narrow volume of vapor may be made visible by the emission of the characteristic column of yellow sodium light and also by scattered sunlight from the cloud," an Air Force announcement said. "The latter source would give a continuous spectrum. The visibility of the cloud from the ground will depend on the efficiency of the process producng the sodium light. The yellow light may be so feeble that it can only be detected by sensitive instruments."

May Be Bright

But, the announcement added, the process "may be bright enough to be seen with the unaided eye."

Time of the firing at approximately 20 minutes after dusk has been set because, the Air Force scientists say, "natural vapor layer is sometimes visible anyway."

In simple terms, the Air Force is forcing into the upper atmosphere artficial reproductions of an element — sodium — which is present in its natural form there all the time.

The Aerobee rocket which will be used in the test is a standard Air Force upper atmosphere research vehicle.

E. L. Smith Heads NWU Development

A prominent Lincoln businessman and civic leader, E. L. Smith, Tuesday was named general chairman of the Nebraska Wesleyan University development program.

Smith

The announcement was made by Chancellor A. Leland Forrest who also announced that the program has been officially designated as the "Greater Wesleyan Program, a program of development."

Dr. Forrest said Smith will head an overall planning committee composed of chairmen of a half dozen or more sub-committee chairmen.

He said sub-committee chairmen and members of their committees will be announced as the committees are formed and that additional committees will be activated when and where the needs arise.

Smith, a lifelong Nebraskan, is a partner in the clothing firm of Magee's in Lincoln.

He has been identified with the Wesleyan program almost continuously since his graduation in 1911. From 1945 until 1953 he served as president of the Wesleyan board of trustees.

In the fall of 1954 he was awarded an honorary Doctor of Humane Letters degree by his alma mater.

Smith's additional presidencies include the National Association of Retail Clothiers; the Lincoln Chamber of Commerce; the Lincoln Community Chest and the Lincoln Red Cross. He serves as a member of the board of trustees of the Lincoln YMCA and YWCA and the board of directors of the First Trust Company; Citizens State bank and Midwest Life Insurance company.

Democrat Chiefs Set Party's Political Pot Boiling

NEW YORK (AP) — Former President Harry S. Truman and other Democratic leaders set the party's political pot boiling Tuesday regarding next year's presidential nominee.

They voiced a variety of statements on party prospects. The gist however, was hardly more than confirmation of what has appeared evident for quite some time:

Adlai Stevenson, the former Illinois governor who was defeated by President Eisenhower four years ago, and New York's Gov. Averell Harriman are the top men in the nomination picture at the moment.

No 'Dump'

There were, though, these developments:

1. Truman denied a Republican charge there may be afoot a move to "dump" Stevenson before the Democratic convention.

2. New York's Mayor Robert F. Wagner said he feels Stevenson is the strongest candidate now, and that he is for Stevenson. But he said he will continue his support only as long as Stevenson appears to hold his strength.

3. Carmine DeSapio, a party kingpin who played a leading role in Harriman's election as governor, repeated he favors Harriman as "a favorite son candidate of the New York delegation."

Nevertheless, he added: "I am not going to say or do anything that is going to be harmful to any potential Democratic candidate."

Prime Task

4. Gov. Raymond Gary of Oklahoma, a Democratic governor of a normally Democratic state, said he believed Oklahoma would go for either Stevenson or Harriman.

5. All agreed the prime task ahead is to pick the man who can win.

On two different occasions during the day Truman took pains to re-emphasize that, as he has stated before, he is not making any choice between Stevenson and Harriman.

"I have no candidate, except I want a winner when the Democratic convention acts . . . I've made it perfectly clear on a number of occasions. They're both good men."

This comment came after Truman had gone aboard the liner United States to meet his daughter Margaret, returning from a two-month vacation abroad.

'Good Time'

Truman had come to New York after a visit with Gov. Harriman in Albany.

A newsreel man interposed that, while Truman was at Albany, he seemed to give the impression he leaned toward Harriman.

The former President answered: "It was friend meeting friend and having a good time. And the courtesies were extended."

Ranch House Beer License Given State Hearings

The Liquor Control Commission Tuesday took under consideration the application of the Ranch House in West Lincoln for a retail beer license after protests had been filed following favorable action by the town board.

William Woltmade of KLSM Enterprises said the Blue Moon tavern suffered a 40 per cent loss in business two years ago when Joe-Joes was licensed. More licenses, he said would ruin them.

Robert Guenzel, representing present licensees, said the village was adequately served and that if the Ranch House license is approved others will apply. Up to this year the village had only three licensees.

Chauncey Barney, appearing for the applicant, said the objectors feared competition because the Ranch House is a "high class supper club and not a beer joint." He argued that sale of beer would stop "spiking" by patrons.

The village board voted unanimously for the license with four votes and one member absent.

Omaha GI Held For 'Cracker Toss

MUNICH, Germany (AP) — A U.S. soldier was held here Tuesday for throwing firecrackers at Germans.

Military Police said Pvt. W. B. Kuhn of Omaha, Neb., was taken into custody Monday after two Germans were slightly hurt by a firecracker tossed from an American car. A Munich police report said four Germans were injured.

Army investigators said that one of the Germans gave chase in his automobile and was hit by a beer bottle hurled at him from the American automobile. No charges have been placed against Kuhn.

Banner Income Highest

Per Capita Study Of '49 Discloses

A study recently completed by the University of Nebraska's College of Business Administration shows that in 1949 Banner County, located in the far west, led the rest of Nebraska in the highest per capita income.

Banner County had a per capita income of $2,135. The state's average was $1,252.

Both Wheeler and Webster Counties had the lowest per capita income, $855.

Graduate Study

The study, conducted by Sidney Henderson, a graduate research assistant in the department of business research, was published this month under the title, "Income in Nebraska by County," and is one of a series of business research bulletins.

Dr. Edgar Z. Palmer, chairman of the business research department and under whose direction the study was made, said that the county distribution of income has remained probably the same over the past six years.

He said the year 1949 was used because "of the wealth of data now available from the Census of Agriculture covering 1949, the census of population and labor force covering 1950 and 1949, and old age and survivors insurance data."

State Average $1,252

The study shows that of Nebraska's average income per capita, $1,252, farm income was $1,115; and non-farm income, $1,310. In Douglas and Lancaster Counties, farm income was 1.3 and 5.4 per cent respectively, of the total income. For the rest of the counties, the range was from 14.4 to 95.3 per cent, with the state average at 26.3 per cent.

The county-by-county breakdown of per capita income follows:

25,000 Legion Marchers With 100 Bands, 51 Floats Brave Miami's Rain

MIAMI, Fla. (AP)—The American Legion marched Tuesday night — 25,000 strong — through heavy showers after waiting almost four hours for Miami's traditionally clear skies to prevail.

It was the first time a Legion national parade started in darkness, although many of their lengthy processions over the past 37 years have ended after nightfall.

The parade—the largest annually in the United States, with 100 bands and 51 floats in line this year had been scheduled to start at 4:30 p.m. EST. It was then put off to 8 p.m. in a vain hope the skies would clear.

Then it was now or never, convention business being on schedule Wednesday. The skies cleared momentarily just before the start of the parade but less than half an hour later a downpour drenched the marchers.

Raincoats

Despite the weather, throngs of spectators lined Biscayne Boulevard, most wearing raincoats or carrying umbrellas.

The marchers were drenched to the skin. The rain flattened the colorful costumes of the drum majorettes.

Floats that cost thousands of dollars and were months in preparation wilted under the downpour.

But the spectators applauded loudly when the marchers paraded by, completely ignoring the pelting rains.

The parade was headed by regular military units.

Although this was an off-day for actual convention sessions, there was plenty of background activity.

Legion bigwigs wrestled in a closed meeting with the question of what approach to take regarding UNESCO—the United Nations Educational, Scientific and Cultural Organization.

Strong opposition has developed to a Legion special committee report that described UNESCO as neither Communist, atheistic nor in favor of world government.

Four aspirants for election as national commander stepped up their campaign activity.

The election of a successor to National Commander Seaborn P. Collins, of New Mexico, will be held at the final convention session Thursday. Collins is not seeking re-election. Legion by-laws stipulate that commanders hold office only one year.

40 And 8 Acts

MIAMI BEACH, Fla. (INS)—The American Legion's fun-making sidekicks—the 40 & 8 rejected a proposal to admit Negroes Tuesday and in a surprise move elected a Chicagoan as its new commander.

The 40 & 8, winding up its separate convention at Miami Beach, named William A. Schlupp of Chicago as its chef de chemin de fer for 1956.

Until Monday night there had been only one candidate for the office, 74-year-old Henry W. Green of Atlanta.

Green withdrew, however, and was elected honorary chef de chemin de fer Tuesday, the third time in 40 & 8 history the honorary title has been bestowed.

Girl, 20, Injured In 2-Car Collision

A 20-year-old girl, Donna Hevelone of 4642 Knox, was reported in fair condition at Lincoln General Hospital Tuesday after being injured in a two-car accident at 33rd and Vine.

The injured girl was riding in a car driven by Mrs. Violet Hevelone, 37, of 4642 Knox.

The Hevelone car collided with a vehicle driven by Paul E. Boslaugh, 74, of 2518 A.

Group Help To Be Asked In Safety Drive

Nebraska's traffic safety campaigns will be carried to the public through existing organizations rather than directly to the individual, a traffic safety meeting here Tuesday outlined.

The meeting, called by Gov. Victor Anderson, was attended by 60 persons representing various civic, business, industrial, and agricultural organizations.

The group voted to ask Gov. Anderson to appoint a steering committee which would outline organization plans for a proposed Nebraska Traffic Safety Foundation.

Organizations, corporations and businesses, rather than individual persons, would belong to the Foundation. Each corporate member would contribute to the cost of running the foundation.

In addition to the foundation, there would be a state committee of nine, appointed by the governor on a district basis, and there would be county committees.

Dr. C. J. Potthoff of Omaha, who presided at Tuesday afternoon's meeting, said the foundation idea would afford a way of "getting down to each individual person" with the safety message through some existing interest he has or an organization to which he already belongs.

Deed Gift Held Up By School Board

The Board of Education has delayed approval on giving a deed to the city for a part of M from 48th to 50th.

Because of the failure of some property owners to donate the needed right-of-way, the Board faces a $600 assessment for the city's acquisition of that land. Board members said they did not want to give their land if they were going to be required to pay for other property in the same situation.

The Board approved the signing of a petition for the paving of Van Dorn from 37th to 40th.

Stocks End Lower After Brief Rally

NEW YORK (AP) — The stock market was racked by a series of rallies and reactions Tuesday and managed to close only moderately lower.

The performance represented a slowdown in the headlong fall that has been going on for more than two weeks since President Eisenhower suffered his heart attack.

At the finish, gains and losses spread over a range of around 3 points either way.

Strength was centered in aircrafts with support from individual issues in motors, coppers, and aluminums.

Steels were unchanged to lower as were oils, chemicals, and railroads.

The market opened lower, but within a matter of minutes it met buying support vigorous enough to make the tape lag briefly in reporting the couse of dealings on the floor of the New York stock exchange. That rally failed to hold, however, and prices became quite mixed.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks was off 90 cents at $163.40. It dropped $4.60 Monday.

Two weeks ago in its first major break the average fell $11.40, second largest decline it ever has made.

The average at $163.40 now stands at the level of last May. It has lost nearly 69 per cent of the gain it made from the first of the year to the high of the year Sept. 23.

The three components of the average all were down Tuesday — industrials $1.60, rails 60 cents, and utilities 30 cents.

Volume was 3,590,000 shares compared with 3,100,000 shares Monday.

U. S. Steel, Monday's most active issue off 2⅝, topped the active list Tuesday up ⅛ at 53⅝ on volume of 38,100 shares.

It was followed by Glenn Martin up 2⅝ at 34⅛, General Motors "when issued" off ⅝ at 44, Chrysler up 1⅛ at 92⅜, and New York Central up ⅝ at 44½.

Prices on the American Stock Exchange were mostly lower, but many active issues were higher. Volume came to 1,030,000 shares as against 920,000 shares Monday.

BOND MARKET

NEW YORK (AP) — Industrials sagged after a brief rally in a thoroughly mixed bond market Tuesday.

U.S. Treasury securities declined for the first time in a week in the over-the-counter market.

The 2½s of 1963 and the Victory 2½s of December 1967-72 lost 4-32 each at 98 2-32 and 95 31-32 bid, respectively.

The long-range governments also lost 4-32 each, with the 30-year 3¼s closing at 105 16-32 and the 40-year 3s at 100 bid.

Japan stamped 6½s of 1964 declined fractionally in a slow foreign section.

Corporate trading volume mounted up to $7,950,000 par value from $5,900,000 Monday.

American Telephone & Telegraph Co.'s new 3⅜s debentures slipped ⅝s at 126 in heavy trading.

AP COMMODITY INDEX

NEW YORK — The Associated Press weighted wholesale price index of 35 commodities Tuesday advanced to 171.75.

Previous day 171.61, week ago 172.26, month ago 172.32, year ago 169.62.

Wheat Weakest In Slow Session

CHICAGO (AP) — In a slow session grains closed with scattered plus and minus signs on the Board of Trade Tuesday.

The market appeared to be in a waiting mood. One thing it was waiting for was a government crop report, issued after the market closed.

Wheat was the weakest cereal while rye was strongest.

Wheat closed 1 cent lower to ⅛ higher, corn ⅛ lower to ⅛ higher and rye ⅝ lower to 2 cents higher.

Soybeans closed unchanged to ¾ lower and lard 5 cents lower to 50 cents a hundred pounds higher.

Sheriff's Office Pay Increases To Total $230

A new salary scale for the Lancaster County Sheriff's department has been approved by the County Board and increases totalling $230 a month were granted to present personnel.

Sheriff Merle Karnopp said the board's action brings county salaries in line with the Lincoln Police Department and will enable him to retain and employ qualified personnel.

The range of the adopted salary scale is $300-$450 for chief deputies; $275-$300 for day patrolmen; $265 to $320 for tax deputies; $265 to $305 for night patrolmen, and $265-$290 for jailers.

In line with the new scale, individual salary increases averaging $25 a month were granted by the board. The new payroll effective Nov. 1 is:

Chief Deputy Les Hesson, $425; Day Patrolmen Del Zieman, $310; Bob Anderson, $310; Bill Johnson, $275; Tax Deputies Leonard Schaffer. $295; and Lyle Jewett, $290; Night Patrolmen Ronald Burns, $265, and Frank Jacox, $295; and Jailers Cliff Williams, $270, Claude Gibson, $265; and Andrew Maser, $265.

Karnopp said the monthly payroll increase of about $230 would be absorbed by his present budget.

Mister,

this is where we came in

Matter of fact, we encouraged him to do so—even though we could have honestly said: "Mister, this is where we came in." Because we had already thoroughly inspected the car. Then we reconditioned it for safety, value and performance. That's why our top-condition cars carry the red OK tag and are backed in writing—with our own signature on the warranty you get.

You'd think that the price tag on cars processed like this would be higher, wouldn't you? Fact is, prices are low because we Chevrolet dealers want to make more room for trade-ins on new Chevrolets, and are able to pass volume savings on to you. And because of the popular demand for new Chevrolets, your choice of makes and models is greater than ever!

Isn't this where you come in?

French Cabinet Tries To Clarify Algeria Reforms

PARIS (AP) — France's Cabinet hammered out a set of proposals Tuesday night intended to clarify the government's reform policies aimed at restoring peace in Algeria.

The Cabinet met as a three-day debate opened in the National Assembly with Communist denunciations of the military reprisals taken against Algeria's Moslem population after the Sept. 20 uprisings.

Ministers directly concerned with the problem attended the Cabinet session, along with Jacques Soustelle, governor general of Algeria. An announcement after the meeting said merely that agreement was reached on measures to be presented before year's end to the Algerian Assembly. The measures will cover proposed long-term political, economic, administrative and social reforms.

Some Changes

Interior Minister Maurice Bourges-Maunoury is known to believe, however, that immediate changes are needed in Paris' governmental contact with Algeria. Such changes, looking toward closer integration of Algeria with France, may be spelled out by the interior minister in an address to the National Assembly Wednesday.

The Communists, as the Algeria debate opened, blasted the government both for its reprisals against the Algerian population and for the military plans to restore order.

It was on the basis of the contention that Algeria is an integral part of France that Foreign Minister Antoine Pinay walked out of the U. N. General Assembly when that body voted to conduct a debate on the troubled area.

Jacques Duclos, active leader of the French Communist party during the long illness of Secretary Gen. Maurice Thorez, said the slogan "Algeria is France" is a confusing argument and should be abandoned.

Instead, said Duclos, France should negotiate with the Algerian rebels, just as France has negotiated with nationalists in Tunisia and Morocco, North African protectorates which have been given or promised more home rule.

Giving the Algerian people a chance to decide their own fate would not necessarily mean detachment from France, Duclos argued.

"A divorce law does not make divorce obligatory," he said.

Bankers Exchange Greetings

Technical Advances To Blame For Farm Price Drop—Jesness

The head of the Department of Agricultural Economics at the University of Minnesota said Tuesday the drop in farm prices is due to a capacity to out-produce the available market.

Speaking to the 58th annual convention of the Nebraska Bankers Association, O. B. Jesness stressed the present farm situation however, is "quite unlike that of the 1930's."

i "quite unlike that of the 1930's."

The weaknesses in the farm price structure do not have their roots in depression, the farm economics expert pointed out. What is important to realize, he said, is that "we are in the midst of a revolution in agricultural mechanization and technology."

Farmers, Jesness said, find it hard to adjust output when surpluses show up. "But is not this just the reason why we have a farm price support program?"

Chaos

Jesness said that with present surplus stocks, no one proposes sudden withdrawal of the price support program. The result "would be chaos."

Granting this, however, Jesness said, "does not mean that blind reliance on supports will solve our problem." On this point, the farm economist said lower price supports may ease the problem of exports and encourage more feeding of wheat.

He said the real answer to the problems lies in permitting shifts out of agriculture until a balance of production and consumption is attained. Such a shift, he said, is in progress.

Preceding Jesness in the first of two days of programs, Mayor Clark Jeary and Gov. Victor Anderson welcomed the state bankers.

Another of the major speakers was Samuel C. Waugh, formerly of Lincoln, president of the Export-Import Bank and previously with the State Department.

County Banker

J. V. Johnson, president of the state bankers group, said the country banker often is the most important member of a community. He said the banker must be familiar not only with the balance sheets and the business of a particular customer, but also with the economic temper and outlook of our respective community and the nation as a whole.

Johnson told the bankers all his suggestions "total up to the fact that we owe the depositors and the community a safe, wide-awake, complete and modern bank service

The major speaker scheduled Wednesday is Fred F. Florence, president of the American Bankers Association from Dallas, Tex. Others include Clarence C. Jones, vice president of the Farmers State Bank at Elkhorn.

K. W. Haagensen, director of public relations for the Allis-Chalmers Manufacturing Co., will be the noon speaker prior to adjournment.
